MIDNIGHT.

THE COAL MINE HORROR.

The Worst Fears Fully Realized.

TWO HUNDRED AND THREE DEAD BODIES FOUND.

Harrowing Agony of Relatives.

THE LATEST PARTICULARS.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SCRANTON, Sept. 7.—At 7:50 o'clock to-night John Price, E. Morris, William M. Thomas, and Elijah Thomas went down, it being Morris' second trip, for the purpose of arranging the hose. They were down twenty minutes, and E. Morris was brought out insensible, falling before he reached the carriage. The second trip proved more than he could stand; he was resuscitated in a short time. The others were all right and they succeeded in getting the hose ready to haul up.

There were not less than one hundred and thirty-eight nor more than two hundred and fifty people in the Avondale mine when the accident occurred. Some of the men who went down the shaft reported that the fire in the furnace was all out. The presumtion is that when the fire broke out the miners had kept their senses, and having dragged the fire had fled to the upper chambers, closing the doors behind them. Supposing this to be true, the rescuers proceeded on a simple plan of forcing fresh air into the mine. This was continued until four o'clock in the afternoon, when a party of men, penetrating two hundred feet and opening the door, made the discovery that the fire was still burning in the furnace and had even ignited the coal piled up inside, and those understanding the situation upon hearing this fact, saw in a moment that all hope was at an end, and that all that could be done was to drag the lost miners from their fiery tomb to a Christian burial. A change of operations was then instantly acted on, and it was determined to direct immediate efforts to the extinguishment of the fire. Means are now arranged to that end, and the night will be occupied by deluging the mine with water.

WEDNESDAY MORNING'S DEVELOPMENTS.

WILKESBARRE, September 8.—A gentleman who has returned from the Avondale mine, reports that early this morning a successful descent was made, and some of the chambers of the mine entered. A large number of dead bodies were found. There were no signs of life any where around in the fearful sepulchre. The bodies were being brought to the surface as fast as possible, and the shrieks of the heart-broken relatives on beholding the lifeless forms of their husbands, fathers and brothers, is harrowing indeed.

AVONDALE, September 8.—3 A. M.—An entrance to the mine was effected about half an hour ago. The chambers were reached without serious difficulty. The first body discovered was that of Mr. Steele. Further on and in the most remote chamber an appalling spectacle presented itself to the explorers. There in a heap and in all sorts of positions in which their last agonies had placed them, lay the bodies of two hundred and three dead men, not a vestige of life being visible in the countenance or form of any of the unfortunate men who had met so untimely and horrible a death.

The wildest excitement prevailed at the entrance to the shaft, and the shrieks of the friends of the dead as the bodies were brought up were deafening. Nothing can approximate to a description of the scene; no pen can portray it. The pent up grief of those who still hoped against fate, went forth in wails of heart-breaking agony. The endearing or tender words of the mother or wife, as she grasped the lifeless form of her son or husband and tried to bring it again to life, refusing to believe it could be dead, and defending it against all attempts at removal.

PLYMOUTH, September 8—11 A. M.—There have been one hundred and twenty bodies brought up out of the mine, and they are still being piled into the basket below. The features are not contorted; they look natural and are easy of recognition by friends and relatives. The bodies are being placed in ice. Some of them are being removed to their former homes and privately cared for, while the majority are allowed to remain until preparations are made for their funerals. Many of them will be buried together.

THE DISTRESSING PARTICULARS.

SCRANTON, PA., September 8.—At 5:15 o'clock A. M. four men went down the shaft and were gone twenty-five minutes. They discovered dinner cans and caps.

At 6:50 A. M., four men went down and were gone thirty minutes. They discovered the whole company dead on the east side of the plane.

Preparations are making to send down six gangs of four men each, and the bodies will be brought out as rapidly as possible. The foul air does not interfere to any extent.

At half past seven one of the gangs reported that they went up the plane, just beyond which a barrier was met, consisting of a car packed around with coal and clothing. This was cleared away, and proceeding a little further another barrier was met nearly completed, and constructed as the first. One man was found upon the outside, where he had been at work laying up the wall. All was completed, save a small aperture sufficient to admit the passage of a human body, and it is inferrrd he had just finished his task and was preparing to join his companions on the opposite side by crawling back. This barrier was removed, when the whole force of miners were found congregated, piled one upon another and dead.

9:10 A. M.—The fourth body exhumed was Wm. P. Ewell, of Plymouth; eyes both open and head turned aside. He had a son in the mine.

9:30 A. M.—Daniel Jones, who lost his life in an effort to rescue his companions Monday night, and Thomas Williams, who also sacrificed his life for the same object, are to be buried this afternoon.

At 9:45 Mr. Wm. Halliday was brought from the mine nearly exhausted. The fifth body rescued was a boy named Wm. Williams, aged fourteen. He worked here but one day. The sixth body is Matthew Evans; he died in great agony.

Active preparations are making for the immediate removal of the bodies, which work will consume the greater part of the day, owing to the lack of facilities for hoisting. The condition of the mine is improving.

8:15 A. M.—Coroner Eno, of Plymouth, who is on the ground, has impannelled a jury of inquest, who will view the bodies as they are brought out.

8:40 A. M.—The body of John Bowen, of Plymouth, a miner, was the third brought out. His left eye is partially open, but otherwise his countenance is placid. He leaves a wife and one child. He was found outside the barricade, behind which were all the other bodies. He was evidently overcome before he could get through.

The names of the dead men will be announced as fast as they are brought out and relatives will be allowed to enter the mine.

The Coroner's jury have just viewed the bodies of Steele and Slocum. The men engaged in bringing out the bodies are required to be sworn to the facts in each case. C. E. Merriman and H. C. Payne, lawyers, of Wilkesbarre, are attending the jury, and Father O'Hara, of Wilkesbarre, is present.

SCRANTON, Sept. 8.—Up to this time ten bodies have been raised from the mine. Some of the bodies were disfigured. The watches of the men had stopped at from four to five o'clock, supposed to have been on Tuesday morning. The bodies of two of the boys recovered were found clasped in their father's arms.

The funeral of the two men who lost their lives in an effort to rescue the men in the mine, on Monday, took place this afternoon.

At 9:43 A. M. William Hallida, of Pine Ridge, one of the working party, was brought from the mine nearly exhausted, but subsequently recovered.

Up to 7:15 this evening the work of bringing the dead bodies to the surface proceeded steadily. Sixty bodies have been raised and their funerals will be held to-morrow.

Subscriptions have been received for the sufferers, viz: $5,000 from New York board of brokers, $2500 from Asa Packer and $500 from Gov. Geary.

KEOKUK.

The Mississippi Valley Commercial Convention—Second Day's Proceedings.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

KEOKUK, IA., September 8.—The Mississippi Valley Convention reassembled at nine o'clock this morning.

The Committee on Permanent Organization reported as follows: President, Wm. Vandever, Iowa; Vice Presidents, R. R. Reynolds, Alabama, J. S. Sharp, Tennessee, Horace Reed, Wisconsin, Cyrus Aldrich, Minnesota, M. W. Delahey, Kansas, Judge Sutton, Louisiana, M. W. Beitzhoover, Pennsylvania, J. W. Batcheller, Ohio, H. W. Webb, Illinois, J. D. Davis, Iowa, Gen. Asken, Missouri, Hiram Barney, New York, B. Field, Kentucky, M. Schoenberg, Arkansas; Secretaries, E. A. James, Tennessee, W. B. Murray, Minnesota, Col. Coffin, Kansas, M. Flood, Louisiana, R. J. Sloan, Ohio, A. J. Messenger, Wisconsin, E. A. Lane, Illinois, Geo. C. Ticknor, Iowa, and the temporary secretaries were added by resolution.

The President was conducted to the Chair and made a speech of considerable length from a pamphlet which he prepared for the occasion.

Mr. Howell, from the Committee on Order of Business, presented the majority report. He explained the reasons which induced a division of sentiment in the Committee. The Committee reported the following subjects to be acted upon:

First—Mississippi river and its tributaries.

Second—Foreign commerce.

Third—Immigration.

Fourth—Postal telegraph.

The Committee further recommended that Standing Committees be appointed upon each of the foregoing subjects. The Committee on the Mississippi river and tributaries to consist of one member from each State; the other Standing Committees to consist of five each.

The minority report was then read. It proposes that the Convention shall consider all matters connected with the commerce and travel of the Mississippi and its tributaries, or which may in any way hinder the development of the country drained by its waters, and that the Convention ought not to be confined to the four subjects mentioned in the majority report; that one subject included in the minority report, the postal telegraph, has no special application to the Mississippi and Mississippi Valley, while other subjects of great importance to the Mississippi Valley are excluded. The Committee also think it would be unjust and unwise to refer all the resolutions to Committees without debate. They also believe no Standing Committees should be appointed, but that all subjects should be considered in open Convention, unless Special Committees are ordered. The minority Committee therefore recommend the following order of business:

First—Mississippi river and its tributaries.

Second—Foreign commerce.

Third—Immigration.

And that the Convention shall then be open to consider other matters pertinent to those objects.

Mr. Finkelbury, who made this report, said that since the Committee had prepared the report, by a change in the views of members it had become the majority report.

After an hour's discussion, which took a wide range, the minority report was adopted.

Mr. James, of Tennessee, offered a resolution that the vote of each state be represented by its representation in Congress; if not Iowa and Missouri would swallow up all the other states.

Gen. Bussey, of Louisiana, offered a resolution that a committee of one from each state be appointed on the Mississippi and its tributaries, and a Committee of five each on the subjects of Immigration, Foreign Commerce and the removal of the Capital.

The resolution was adopted and the following gentlemen appointed:

On Mississippi River—M. A. Bryson, Missouri, E. A. James, Tennessee, Jas. K. Kerr, Pennsylvania, R. M. Reynolds, Alabama, Col. Coffin, Kansas, F. Delbaude, Louisiana, Col. Schroder, Arkansas, J. S. Readen, Illinois, H. R. Claussen, Iowa, Erving Reed, Indiana, A. J. Messinger, Wisconsin, R. Summer Kentucky, R. Blakely, Minnesota, J. W. Bachelor, Ohio.

On Foreign Commerce—Wm. Burwell, Louisiana. L. A. Shyrock, Missouri, C. Winston, Illinois, R. T. Bowen, Iowa, A. A. Baines, Tennessee.

Removal of the Capital—A. F. Muller, Iowa, T. A. Reaves, Missouri, M. W. Delahay, Kansas, Cyrus Bussey, Louisiana, W. A. Steel, Illinois.

On Immigration—E. A. Stanard, Missouri, A. Chambers, Iowa, D. R. English, Illinois, A. T. Shaw, Tennessee, W. R. Fish, Louisiana.

The Convention then adjourned until three P. M. Much of the time of the morning session was exhausted in motions and in counter motions and fruitless debate. Very little business having reference to the objects of the Convention was transacted.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

During the morning session of the Convention letters were read from President Grant, written by his Private Secretary, Robert M. Douglas, Hon. Wm. Loughridge, of Iowa, Jas. S. Negley, of Pittsburgh, Penna., Governor Butler, of Nebraska, C. H. Murray, of Dunleith, regretting their inability to be present.

The Convention reassembled at three o'clock.

Mr. Swift, of St. Louis, offered the following:

Resolved, That both science and experience have fully demonstrated that there is no necessity, in order to facilitate railroad transportation, for the construction of three hundred feet span bridges over our rivers.

Resolved, That the piers of the bridges now in course of construction by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, of only three hundred feet apart, will be a dangerous obstruction to the navigation of the Ohio river, and the attempt of said Company to erect bridges across said river with spans over the channel of less than four hundred feet, is an act of bad faith towards the river interests, which demanded spans of five hundred feet, but agreed to accept four hundred feet as a reasonable compromise, which compromise was accepted by other bridge companies, and said company should be required to change the construction of the same, so that not less than a four hundred feet span should be left over the channel way end; if the company shall fail to do so, we shall urge upon Congress the passage of a law for the removal of the same.

Resolved, That it is the duty of Congress to repeal so much of the act of the 14th of July, 1862, as allows the erection of bridges over the Ohio river above the mouth of Big Sandy, with spans across the main channel of three hundred feet.

Resolved, That in the judgment of this Convention it is the duty of Congress to enact a general law fixing the minimum height of the span of bridges to be erected over the navigable rivers in the United States, specifying that the spans of bridges to be erected over the channel of the Ohio river shall not be less than four hundred feet.

Judge S. F. Miller, from the Committee on the removal of the National Capital, made the following report:

Resolved, That the best interests of the whole people of the United States require the removal of the National Capital from its present location, and that it is the opinion of this Convention some point in the valley of the Mississippi should be selected for its permanent establishment.

Resolved, That we are opposed to any further appropriations for government buildings in Washington City, and recommend that Congress take measures for the removal of the seat of government as soon as it may conveniently be done.

After strong speeches for and against the resolutions, a motion to lay them on the table was carried by a vote of 46 to 42.

Resolutions in regard to the tariff, the money market and various other questions were presented by various members. Some were referred to the various standing Committees, but most of them laid on the table.

A motion was made to reconsider the vote laying on the table the resolution presented in favor of removing the Capital. A long and warm debate followed and finally the motion for reconsideration was withdrawn.

The Committee on the Mississippi River and its tributaries made their report as follows:

Resolved, That the people of the Mississippi Valley, now in Convention assembled, do hereby respectfully and earnestly petition the honorable Senators and Representatives of the forty-first Congress to appropriate, at the next session, so much as shall be necessary to complete the improvements of the Mississippi at the Desmoines and Rock Island Rapids and the completion of the Louisville and Portland Canal at the Falls of the Ohio.

Resolved, That fully appreciating the work now being done at the Balize at the mouth of the Mississippi, under Major Howell, and the removal of snags and dredging of sand bars on the lower Mississippi, the Missouri and Arkansas rivers, under Major General Warren, and the removal of obstructions to the navigatio of the Tennessee river, under Gen. Godfrey Weitzel, on the Ohio by Colonel Roberts, the Illinois under Gen. J. H. Wilson, and the falls at Alexandria, on the Red river, we do most earnestly and respectfully ask the members of the Forty-first Congress to appropriate at their next session so much as can be judiciously expended in the continued improvement of the navigation of said rivers during the next fiscal year.

Resolved, That we urge upon Congress the necessity and propriety of passing a general law regulating the construction of bridges over the Mississippi river and its principal navigable tributaries, fixing the minimum width of span of the main water way or channel in the Ohio river at four hundred feet, and in the Missouri and upper Mississippi and all other navigable tributaries of the Mississippi at three hundred feet.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to memoralize Congress on the improvement of the navigation of the Mississippi river and its tributaries.

Resolved, That the thanks of the people of the Mississippi Valley are tendered to the 39th, 40th and 41st Congress for the appropriations granted by them for the improvement of the western rivers, and especially to those members whose warm sympathy and earnest labor contributed so largely to secure said appropriations.

TIDIOUTE.

Heavy Freshet in the Allegheny—Forty-Eight Hours' Continuous Rain—Railroads Obstructed by Land-Slides—Bridges Washed Away.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

TIDIOUTE, Sept. 8.—7:45 P. M.

It has been raining steadily at all points on the Allegheny river for the past forty-eight hours, and it is still pouring down with no sign of cessation. A large quantity of lumber has been swept away. All the tributaries of the Allegheny are swollen over their banks.

The river at this point is rising at the rate of six inches per hour, with nine feet in the channel at this time. A heavy freshet may be expected at Pittsburgh, perhaps as great as that of 1865.

The railroads along the river are all out of order, obstructed by land-slides and the washing away of bridges.

A vast amount of lumber will be run out on the present rise.

DEATH OF SENATOR FESSENDEN.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PORTLAND, Me., September 8.—Senator Fesseden died at half past six o'clock this morning. He was sensible until the hour of death, and had passed a comfortable night until three o'clock. Physicians were in attendance and did everything to relieve his sufferings, which otherwise would have been great at the close.

Senator Fessenden's funeral will take place at half-past ten o'clock, Saturday morning.

LATEST FROM CUBA.

Contradictory Accounts of Recent Engagements.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, September 7.—Cespedes and Quesada, with 6,000 men, attacked Los Tunas, garrisoned by 400 sick and invalid soldiers. They were repulsed with a loss of five hundred men, many arms and flags. It was a complete rout, so much so they dared not oppose the column of Penagsi, only five hundred strong, which arrived next day with a large convoy at Los Tunas.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 8, 1869.

Advices from the Cuban forces have been received in this city up to the 20th ult. In these letters the friends of Cubans have accounts of several engagements which had recently taken place. The Cubans for some months have invested the town of Puerto Principe. On the 12th General Puelos sent out a force, numbering 700, as a reconnoitering party. They were attacked and defeated with the loss of almost the entire command, in casualties, deserters and prisoners. The town of Puerto Principe is reported deserted by General Puelos troops, who after recent engagements retreated to Neuvitas. These letters report that Valmeseda's forces, who had moved out from Los Tunas, had attacked the Cuban troops, who were concentrating near that point under General Quesada. The Spanish troops, composed of the entire strength of Gen. Valmaseda's force, and commanded by Valmaseda in person, consisted of 2,500 regulars and 1,500 volunteers. With this force General Quesada was attacked, and after an engagement of four hours the Spaniards were repulsed with very severe loss. The Cuban loss was over one hundred, while that of Valmaseda was much larger. Valmaseda retreated to Los Tunas, and under the cover of the fortifications of that place secured protection for his troops, the Cubans not being supplied with artillery necessary to attack so formidable fortifications. The Cubans now occupy the entire Cinco Villas district and the territory of the Eastern Department, commanded by Gen. Jordan. The Spanish troops and volunteers occupied the sea coast towns and coast fortifications.

A fight is reported near Puerto La Grande, in which the Spanish forces, numbering over seven hundred, were defeated. It is reported that after the first fire the troops deserted in a body to the Cubans, leaving their officers, who were captured and paroled by Gen. Jordan. Gens. Quesada and Jordan assert their confidence in the result, and their ability to secure Cuban independence.

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, September 8, 1869.

This afternoon ex-Collector Shook called at the office of United States Commissioner Shields and expressed his readiness to furnish every facility in his power to detect the parties who perpetrated the alleged revenue frauds. Assessor Cleveland states that he did not intend to charge Mr. Shook with committing the fraud, and believes him innocent. It is charged that in August, 1837, H. B Matteson received a check for $7,700 from J. B. Alexander & Co., brokers, in payment of their taxes for that year, and deposited the money in the bank to his own credit, but the firm was not credited with the amount on the tax books. J. P. Abrahams, Assistant Assessor, made the assessment, which was not, however, returned to the Collector.

Collector Grinnell has requested that the flags of all vessels in port be displayed at half mast to-morrow, in testimony of respect to the memory of the late Gen. Rawlins.

The New York Stock Exchange this afternoon voted to appropriate from the funds in the Treasury five thousand dollars for the relief of the widow and children of Gen. Rawlins, also five thousand dollars for the sufferers by the Avondale coal mine disaster.

The Rawlins' fund here now amounts to $24,500.

Mr. Thurlow Weed to-day sent a check for one hundred dollars for the relief of the Avondale mine sufferers.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, September 8—Lord Elcho, who has taken a prominent part in volunteer movements recently, has suggested a rifle match between England and America.

The Morning Telegraph has an editorial to-day on the result of the recent rowing match. It says the merits of systems will be undecided until Oxford crosses the Atlantic and meets the American crew on American waters. If Oxford is beaten under such circumstances, it will show, however close the match may be, the American and English styles of rowing. If Oxford is victorious, it will show that the Harvards have something to unlearn.

The Times to-day is indignant over the late outrages in China. It says "Whether China understands that it is for its own advantage to be free to keep order in its own dominions or not, England is resolved to insist that it must keep the Mandarins under proper control. We shall refuse the responsibility of maintaining peace in China, if there is any foundation for the suggestion that is trying to deceive the western powers by a pretended desire to establish more direct relations. It is hard to understand how we should enter into war under less favorable conditions, because we abdicated the unpopular office of chastising the provincials for outrages really the acts of Mandarins delegated from Pekin. Should war arise, it would be unquestionably our interest to stipulate that a fulfillment of the terms of the treaties be assumed solely by the Chinese. Our Government in giving a chance of success to the Burlingame mission may be accomplishing peaceably what it might be compelled to effect by force. Present alarms give no cause to distrust the recently recognized doctrine, that is better for foreigners trading with China to make it the business of the central government to keep to the treaties and oblige its subjects to do so."

FRANCE.

NEW YORK, September 8.—The following dispatches are from private sources:

Paris, September 7.—6 P. M.—The Emperor lies in the same condition as yesterday. The rumors with reference to his health were exaggerated. His position is one rather of stagnation than of convalescence. The weather militates against him.

6 P. M.—The advices from the Emperor's household to-day report his condition much improved.

PARIS, September 8.—The Emperor to-day presided at the Council of Ministers, at St Cloud. His visit to Paris is postponed until to-morrow.

The Patrie to-day has reason to believe that the complete restoration of the Emperor's health is near at hand.

General Prim remains at Vichy. He will return to Madrid on the 15th inst.

IRELAND.

DUBLIN, September 7.—A meeting favorable to amnesty to the Fenians was held at Limerick yesterday. Twenty-five thousand people were present. Resolutions were adopted, among which was one asserting that the farmers of Ireland would not accept the Tenant Right Bill until the political prisoners were released.

DUBLIN, Sept. 8.—Sir John Gray, editor of the Freeman's Journal, makes an appeal to Mr. Johnston, of Belfast, as the leader of the Orangemen, to co-operate in the movement for the settlement of the land question.

SPAIN.

MADRID, September 8.—Imparcel says the American Minister has not sent any note to the Spanish Government, pointing out the possibility of recognition of the Cuban insurgents as belligerents, under the pressure of public opinion in the United States, but he declares that the filibusters have made immense progress in gaining American sympathy and they do not relax their efforts to obtain recognition for Cubans.

THE CAPITAL.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, September 8, 1869.

VIEWING THE REMAINS.

A large number of persons visited the the War Department to-day to view the remains of Secretary Rawlins.

RESPECT TO THE LATE WAR SECRETARY.

The heads of the Treasury Bureau to-day passed resolutions of respect to the late Secretary Rawlins.

The Secretary of the Navy has ordered guns to be fired to-morrow noon at all the naval stations and crape to be worn by the officers for thirty days.

SUSPENSION OF BUSINESS.

The Mayor of Washington has issued a proclamation closing the municipal offices to-morrow. The indications are that all secular business throughout the city will be then suspended.

The veterans of the Soldiers' Home and survivors of the Mexican war, under officers of the Association, will participate in the ceremonies of respect to the late Secretary; also, the survivors of the war of 1812.

This afternoon an unknown party consisting of three ladies and a gentleman visited the corpse of the Secretary of War and left a beautiful boquet of flowers and evergreen arranged in the form of a star, the entire arrangement being about twenty inches in diameter. Accompanying it was a card with the following inscription: "On this altar of the greatest sacrifice for our country's good, the Lone Star State offers her emblem as incense to renewed fraternal love. A wayward sister, yet she is still a sister." The officers in charge placed the tribute at the foot of the coffin. The remains will be followed by three hundred carriages, containing the family, friends, members of Diplomatic Corps and officials of the Government, in addition to the military and various civic associations.

After religious ceremonies at the Congressional Cemetery, a salute of three volleys of musketry and twelve guns or salvos from artillery will be fired.

The funeral pageant will doubtless be one of the most solemn and impressive ever witnessed in this city.

APPOINTMENTS.

The appointment of Jesse Bailes as Postmaster at Louisville, Ky., is officially announced.

The President this afternoon appointed Gen. Sherman to act as Secretary of War until the vacancy caused by the death of Gen. Rawlins shall be filled.

ACTION POSTPONED.

On the habeas corpus petition in the case of Benj. Brown, Eli Wood and others, on trial before the Military Commission at Calcout, Texas, Chief Justice Chase has ordered that further action upon the petition be suspended until after the decision of the Yerger habeas corpus case at the October session of the Supreme Court.

VIRGINIA STATE INTEREST.

Accounts from Richmond represent the interest paid thus far on the State debt amounts to about $190,000 including interest due, and there is now in the State Treasury upwards of $200,000.

The National Executive Committee of the Union League will meet in Philadelphia on Saturday next.

CHICAGO.

Wife Shot in the Street by Her Husband—Board of Health Business—Important Action in the Pharmaceutical Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, September 8.—A young man named David Walsh, a street car conductor, eight months married, shot and fatally wounded his wife on the street last evening. The wife had filed a bill of divorce, on the ground that Walsh had another wife in New York.

A young man named Lewis A. Uhrig attempted to pass a forged check on the Third National Bank to-day. Upon the teller refusing to honor it Uhrig ran out of the Bank at full speed. The teller followed, soon catching him, when he was handed over to an officer. On Saturday last the young scamp drew two hundred and fifty dollars on a forged check from the same Bank.

Health officer Bernam last month served 4,773 notices of nuisances, of which 4,746 were abated. There were 786 loads of swill, 403 loads of ashes, 417 dead dogs, 40 dead horses and four dead cows removed from the streets.

At the session of the American Pharmaceutical Association, last evening, a Committee appointed for the purpose submitted a printed bill to the Association for the consideration of the members, to be presented to the Legislature, providing the members favor it. The preamble provides that

WHEREAS, the safety and welfare of the public is endangered by the sale of poisons by unqualified or ignorant persons; and whereas, in all civilized countries it is found necessary to restrict this species of traffic and to provide by law for the regulation of the delicate and responsible business of compounding and dispensing the powerful agents used in medicines; and whereas, the adulteration and sophistication of drugs and medicines is a species of fraud which should be prevented and suitably punished; therefore be it enacted; first, that medicine and poisons be dispensed only by registered pharmacists; second, that no person can become a registered pharmacist unless a graduate in pharmacy or a practicing pharmacist or assistant; third, definition of the term pharmacist; fourth, the constitution of a pharmacistical board, of which the Governor shall appoint seven; fifth, duties of the board; sixth, the appointment of a regular registrar of pharmacists; seventh, his duties; eighth, the registration of pharmacists; ninth, penalties for collusion; tenth, penalty for non-registration; eleventh, restrictions on the sale of poison; twelfth, dispensing of prescriptions; thirteenth, adulteration of medicines and the penalty; and appended thereto schedules and forms for the most complete carrying out of the bill.

—A suit for libel, with damages laid at $10,000, has been entered against Colonel Mann, proprietor of the Mobile Register, for alleged defamation of the character of Mr. Putnam, Superintendent of the Public Schools of that city. Like suits have been instituted against Colonel Forsyth, of the Register, and author of the communication.

SUMMER DYING.

BY W. C. HOSMER.

Beauty is waning, a voice of complaining
Comes from the hill-side and dell;
Dirge notes are ringing and crickets are singing
To summer a song of farewell!
Day brightly closes, but where are the roses
June wreathed with her tresses of gold?
Soft winds are sighing, where darkly are lying
Their rain-beaten leaves on the mold.

Sadness comes o'er me, for barren before me
Lie fields that I loved when a boy;
No more in the shadows of oaks on the meadows
Stout mowers their nooning enjoy.
The stubble, how lonely! weeds shooting up only
Where grain clothed the generous soil.
And reapers were swinging their cradles and singing
Blithe strains to enliven the toil.

Cattle are wading, where willows are shading
The low, shallow-bed of the stream;
Thistle down floating, sadly denoting
That summer will pass like a dream,
The harvest moon, sailing through mist, is unveiling
Her disc like a bloody-painted shield,
While school-boy and maiden, their baskets full laden,
Hie home from the blackberry field.

Dark swells of ocean, with long measured motion,
Moan as they break on the shore;
Airy tongues wailing, for beauty's cheek paling,
Chime in with the desolate roar.
Stars have grown dimmer, less dazzling the glimmer
Of fire fly lamps on the lawn;
Flowercups unfolding, are honey drops holding,
But light from the landscape is gone.

Throned on the thistle is the bob-o-link's whistle
Made cheerful the meadows of June;
Mead larks saluting the morn with their fluting
Replied to his rapturous tune.
Hoarse crows are calling, and first leaves are failing,
But still a mild loveliness resigns;
A sweet haunting sadness, though vanished in gladness,
And glory from nature resigns.

EPHEMERIS.

—Gordon Bennett is ill.

—They are picking cotton in Louisiana.

—Williams College has only 35 Freshmen this year.

—New York smallboys fish for rats with success and a stout hook.

—Poor Jenny Lind will, it is said, open a singing school at Paris.

—Harriett Martineau is said to have joined Mrs. Stowe's army in the Byron war.

—General Joe E. Johnson has been chosen President of the Nashville University.

—The walnut crop in Ohio is large this year, and the prospects for catsup are encouraging.

—A grave joke—Consumptive people often go off in a fit of coffin.—New Orleans Times.

—Gough really is writing a book. We do not as yet know who is to correct his grammar and spelling.

—Brigham Young's newspaper speaks cheering words of encouragement to the prohibitionists of Massachusetts.

—Wild pigeons have been numerous in the neighborhood of Columbus, but no one has attempted to tame them.

—Bets are now being made in New York as to the probable value of the widow of Commodore Vanderbilt.

—Quilp says a friend urges the rival English opera companies to cease their warfare and make it a concerted peace.

—The people may want light on the Byron imbroglio, but they refuse to be guided by Mrs. Stowe's candal.—N. Y. Leader.

—Robert Dorge, a dry goods merchant of the firm of Maenebaum & Schurlfel in Cincinnati, killed himself by poison on Sunday night.

—Philadelphia proposes putting up a monument to Alexander von Humboldt in Fairmount Park. The corner stone is to be laid on the 14th.

—The San Francisco grapes which reach New York are filled with wine instead of juice, which phenomenon is the effect of six days of jolting.

—Mayor Fox, of Philadelphia, has offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of the murderers of Revenue Detective James J. Brooks.

—Davenport, Iowa, has 25,000 inhabitants. If each of these were to pay one dollar, a fund would be raised large enough to pay for five hippopotami in New York.

—The Pall Mall Gazette says poisons are no longer to be depended on in England, as druggists have taken to adulterating them. What is to become of suicides if this be true?

—Jersey peaches are selling in Philadelphia for forty cents a basket. The Philadelphia papers think this very cheap, but we think that depends very much on the size of the basket.

—A man who attempted burglariously to enter a room in Bradley's Hotel, Portland, Me., was kicked down stairs so severely by the irate occupant that, in revenge, he kicked the bucket.

—An exchange says that a little boy was killed on Saturday in Connecticut by being run over by a cat. We see, however, by the Boston Post that it was a cart which did the business.

—It is now proposed to purchase a homestead for Miss Ida Lewis. People carry on so ecstatically about this young heroine that we think it would be well to change her name to Idol Lewis.

—Undertaker's notice—Old graves reopened and distorted views of the remains of the dead taken and presented by a new process. Apply to H. B. S., office of the Atlantic Monthly, Boston.—N. Y. Sun.

—Vanderbilt has, as everybody knows, put up a statue of himself which cost half a million. It is now said that Fiske proposes that the Erie shall put up a Fiske-al statue at a cost of not less than three quarters of a million.

—Rochester must no longer be proud. Her pre-eminence was a short one. She had a century plant but Chicago took it from her, and now Philadelphia has a finer one with a flower stem twenty feet high. It will be in full bloom next week.

—In Henry county, Ohio a Mrs. Bieterstead gave birth to triplets recently. They were all boys. Singular as it may seem these boys were all brothers and, what makes the coincidence still more remarkable, they are all sons of Mrs. Biederstead.

—The tears that have been shed and the columns that have been published on the University boat race are simply summed up in the following historical conundrum:—Why is the Harvard crew like the platter of Jack Spratt and wife? Got licked!—Ex.

—Here is a specimen of a copperhead joke. The polished and guarded reference to the Chief Magistrate of our country is always characteristic of that sort of people: "The Virginians say that Grant is an impossibility—that is, he is a greater fool than Canby."

—The Cincinnati Commercial says "The body of Mr. Joel Rand, who disappeared from his home in Alton, Maine, about two years ago, was found recently in a thicket, about half a mile from the place where he was last seen." The Commercial neglects to state whether life was extinct or not.

—In Pittsburgh, Ind., a small bo named Fall, conjugated his name as far as the past tense, into a well. As the well was twenty feet deep, he found it difficult to get out again, especially as the bucket was full of the family butter let down there for coolness. Fall was raised again at last, however.

—Jas. E. Earle & Sons, the Philadelphia picture dealers, lost severely by the late fire, and had their business quite disorganized. They however, failed to take advantage of this excellent excuse, and sent their check for $500 with a kind note to the widow of the fireman who lost his life during the conflagration.

—"At Newton, Michigan, a few days ago, a vast number of dead fish, of a kind never before seen in that neighborhood, were found in a small lake. It was full of them, and the beach was covered with those washed ashore." It seems likely that a vessel laden with smoked herring has been wrecked in that neighborhood.

—Last week, two ships, four brigs and four barks carried 931,233 gallons petroleum from Philadelphia to various foreign ports. Since the first of January 19,036,799 gallons of this product have been exported from Philadelphia, and two ships, eleven barks, three brigs and four schooners are now there taking in cargoes of it.

—We see in some of the Eastern papers advertisements of board for "gent and wife." We never would board at a house where they take "gents," but we suppose they must be accommodated some place. It seems that these objectionable persons have wives, but we don't know who would marry a "gent" unless, perhaps, one of the "gals" might.

—At Paris, a Russian calet out of place hung himself in despair, and the suicide was discovered by the postman, who called to deliver a letter to the deceased announcing the death of his father and the inheritance of £2,000 a year. If this young man had had patience, and had become a garcon at some restaurant, he would have fared better. For, as was recently shown in the case of the one in Kansas, patient waiters are no losers.

—"The Newburyport Herald is in favor of great advances in the co-operative system, and thinks there should be in all large towns and cities a common fire, the heat from which shall be let into each house, as gas now is; a common laundry, in which washing and ironing shall be done, and a common cooking establishment, whence cooked meats shall be distributed." A reservoir of common sense would be better than all.

—Mr. Boynton has saved several lives at Cape May this year, and among others that of a noble, generous man whose heart so ran over with the intensity of gratitude that he at once, without hesitation and with scarcely any time for reflection, offered his preserver fifty cents. With characteristic modesty and sterling honesty, the gallant Boynton, at once returned forty-nine cents with the assertion that he had no right to take more than the actual value of the property he had preserved.

THE Portsmouth, (Ohio,) Tribune, of Wednesday, contains the following: "A man named Hilliard, while engaged in digging a well on the turnpike, three miles above the city, last week, became affected by "damps" in the well, and dropped down insensible. No one was present but a Welsh woman, and she no sooner comprehended the state of affairs than she saturated a handkerchief with camphor, went down the well and spread it over his face. She then tied a rope around him and ascended, and then drew him out. He was insensible for three hours, but finally recovered. It was an act of heroism in the woman, and saved the man's life. We regret that we cnanot give her name.

A WEDDING at Fort Smith, Ark., was interrupted the other day, when the rector came to that portion of the service which requires a vow of obedience on the part of the bride. At that critical moment there resounded through the church a most emphatic no from the lips of the lady. The clergyman threw up his hands in dismay and then closed his book, and the excitement among the speciators was intense. But one of the bridesmaids whispered something in the ear of the bride; she gave the required pledge, and thereafter all went merry as a marriage bell.

COUNT TUBE, a wealthy Swede, has purchased of Caleb Cushing and associates, the immense water power at St. Croix Falls, Wisconsin, and considerable land adjoining, and a large additional quantity of land is to be purchased next spring, for an immense Swedish colony expected there. Four or five hundred Swedish emigrants accompanied Count Tube, and are now settling in the vicinity of the Falls.

PARIS FASHIONS.

Early Fall Styles in Bonnets, Hats, Etc.

The importers this week brought out the Paris novelties in bonnets, hats, flowers, feathers, ribbons, &c. The handsomest bonnets and most modified to suit general occasions, particularly striking styles, have been selected by our city milliners from which to pattern designs for the opening of next month. Many of these will probably be for country wear.

There is an effort to enlarge the bonnet, but it is doubtful if it will be successful this season. One thing, however, rejoices the heart of the milliners; the latest novelties cannot be made by the uninitiated, but will require the artistic touch of an experienced hand. There is a variety of shapes, some fitting closely to the head in front, and others being diadem shape with a coronal of flowers and leaves. A description of a few styles will give an idea of what the coming bonnet is to be.

A new fashion is in lavender silk, puffed over a small lace frame. Across the front, and resting back upon the puffs, is a strip of cherry satin, rounded at the corners, and set on in box plaits, the upper side edged with a narrow fluting of cherry satin. A wide plaiting is also at the back, and narrow white blonde runs around the edge of the bonnet. There are short cherry strings that tie under the chignon, and the bridle of lavender silk is lined with cherry satin, and has a bow of ribbon on one side just above the centre. A beautiful pink rose with clusters of buds and autumn-tinted leayes adorns the front.

A peculiar shape is of white corded silk over a frame slightly flaring in the front, with the centre shaped like a very small crown. Above the front edge is a roll of white satin fluting, and between that and a ruffle of silk that crosses the centre is a row of white blonde. The bridle of white silk is also edged with blonde.

A lavender silk is fulled over a very small frame, the front lined with pink and edged with narrow blonde. Puffs of the material cross the centre, and standing upright at the back is a little cape of pink silk. There are short pink strings that tie at the back, a bow of lavender ribbons on one side, a just-opened blush rose, with bursting buds, nestling among clusters of autumn leaves.

A velvet of lavender tint has scarlet velvet standing from both the front and back, and the centre of the bonnet is covered with loops and ends of velvet, except the top of the tiny crown. Upon the left side, and drooping over the back, is a white plume, and above this is a cluster of purple velvet leaves. A bridle of lavender ribbon, doubled and edged with white blonde, falls in front, and is spanned by white ribbon with bows and ends.

Another novelty is of a delicate shade of drab over a frame turned up both front and back, these uprights being covered with scarlet silk. Ribbon of the same shade is looped across the top, and twisted along the back falls in long strings. From the left side droop two plumes, one of drab and the other of scarlet.

A beautiful little head dress is made of ends and loops of green satin ribbon and white blonde lace edging, with strings made in the same way, falling in front and clasped by a bow. A beautiful rose, with crystalized tendrils and leaves of changing tint, nestles at one side. This is much prettier for opera wear than for the house.

A purple velvet of diadem front has a fall of white blonde lace at the back, extending down the bridle, which is composed of velvet, the centre fluted. Plumes of purple a shade lighter than the velvet droop back from the front.

A white silk is covered with ribbons and white blonde lace, with sashes of lace falling at the left side, with a vine of white flowers and autumn leaves trailing at the back. A purple velvet is puffed over the frame, with ribbon strings at the back, a cluster of velvet leaves on the top and a black lace circlet in front. A black velvet is made plain over the frame, with a wide fold of scarlet velvet across the front that is knotted in the centre. From this knot shaded plumes droop over the side, and are clasped to the bonnet by a tuft of black and green. There is a fall of lace at the back, with ribbon strings.

A purple velvet has a fluted fold in front, and beneath this, resting upon the head, is a row of white blond; the bridle also has a blond edging, and there are purple ties at the back. A white feather and a white aigrette completes the trimming. A drab velvet with green trimmings and green plumes was much admired.

ROUND HATS.

White and drab French felt hats of a superior quality have been largely imported in a variety of shapes. It is not probable that felt will be extensively worn, yet they are sought after at this season, and for no other reason than to see something of what the styles are to be in round hats. Some of these shapes are becoming, and others are very trying to even a pretty face, and should never surmount a plain one. One shape has the crown sloping up from the brim, with a high small centre; the brim is turned up, and wider at the sides than front and back. Then there is the turban, the saucer shape and others, each finding admirers. The brown straws will be fashionable for fall wear, and they are also in various shapes. A pretty one has a narrow brim, the edge turned up; the whole brim should be bound with velvet, and the hat covered with drooping feathers and pretty aigrettes. If tastefully trimmed these hats are stylish. On some of these hats autumn-tinted leaves and flowers are worn.

A round hat of drab is bound with green velvet and, has green velvet loops, and a green plume drooping over the top.

FLOWERS.

There has at no season been a richer or more beautiful display of artificial flowers than now. Brilliant, warm-tinted colors will be much in vogue, and will be used in profusion upon the bonnets. Then there are the delicate colors in all shades; the rich autumn leaves, as though here and there a spray of frost had fallen.

Little tropical birds, with brilliant, glossy plumage, will be worn on the round hats, as well as plumes of the grebe skin, &c.

The hair is worn lower on the back of the head in Paris, the herald of the attempt to introduce bonnets with crowns.

A SALE of Cotsville sheep took place in Suffield, Ct, last week. Buyers were present from Maine, Maryland, West Virginia and California. The bids ran so low that after selling nine rams at prices ranging from $30 to $150, and thirty-five ewes at prices ranging from $20 to $42,50, the remainder were withdrawn.

FRUIT CAN TOPS.

We are now prepared to supply Tinners and Potters. It is perfect, simple, and as cheap as the plain top, having the names of the various Fruits stamped upon the cover, radiating from the center, and an index or pointer stamped upon the top of the can.

It is Clearly, Distinctly and Permanently LABELED, by merely placing the name of the fruit the can contains opposite the pointer and sealing in the customary manner. No preserver of fruit or good housekeeper will use any other after once seeing t. mh25

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Sept. 8, 1869.

Busines, generally, cannot be termed brisk; though it is about all that can be expected under existing circumstances, and fully up to the average of this season of the year. The hopes entertained of a good fall and winter trade are likely to be realized, at all events there is nothing in the way at present, and the indications are favorable. It is likely that there will be an absence of that wild speculative feeling which has prevailed for several years past, and it looks as if business this fall and winter would be conducted in the old fashioned way, and that it will be of a more legitimate character. Men are beginning to find out that money cannot be made so easily and quickly, as was the case during the war, and they are also discovering that they must do more work, and be satisfied with smaller profits.

APPLES—In good demand, though the supply is fully up to it, and prices are unchanged, ranging from $2 to $3,50 por bbl.

BERRIES—Blackberries higher, with sales at $1@1,10 per bucket.

BUTTER—Prime to choice is very scarce, and wanted, and we can report sales at 30@33 and even 35.

CHEESE—Is steady, but unchanged, ranging from 15 to 17, the outside figure for New York Goshen.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands may be quoted at 29@30 for round lots, and 31@32 in a retail way.

CEMENT—Johnstown Hydraulic Cement is quoted at $2,25 per bol.

EGGS—Scarce and in demand, with sales of fresh packed at 20.

FEATHERS—Dull; quoted at 80@85 cents to the trade, and the usual advance for small lots in store.

FLOUR—Is quiet and unchanged, though the mills are reported as doing a fair business, and have the lion's share of the retail trade. There is no demand for shipment, as freights are too high to send flour from here to the sea board. We continue to quote good to choice winter wheat brands at $7@7,50; but little doing in spring wheat flours.

GRAIN—The mills continue to receive considerable wheat, but dealers are getting very little, and, as a consequence, there is not much offering; we continue to quote at $1,30@1,33 for prime red. Oats firmer, but unchanged; sale 1 car to the trade at 46—smaller sales at 48. Rye is dull and cannot be quoted above $1,10@1,12. Corn dull but unchanged—sales of prime yellow at $1. Barley is not offering freely, but buyers generally, are obstinate, and refuse to pay above $1,25

HAY—Is selling from country wagons at $15@22—mainly at $15@20.

HEMP—Very dull, $205 per ton.

HUSKS—Sales at 2¾@3 cts per pound.

LIME—White Lime is quoted at $1,50, and Cleveland at $2,50 per bbl.

LARD OIL—F. Sellers & Co. quote Extra No. 1, at1,43, and No. 2, at$ 1,05@1,08

PROVISIONS—The demand is fair, but unchanged. Bacon, Shoulders, 15¾; Ribbed Sides, 18½; Clear do, 19½; Sugar Cured Hams, 23@23½. Lard, 20¾ in tirces, 21 in half bbls, and 21¼ in buckets and kegs. Mess Pork, $33¾@34. Dried Beef, 22.

PEANUTS—Sales at 15 cents.

PEACHES—Are being sold all the way from $1,50 to $3 per bushel, as to quality and condition.

PLUMS—Coming in more freely and we can report sales at $4,50@5 per bush.

SWEET POTATOES—Prime to choice Jerseys may be quoted at $6,50@7 per bbl.

SALT—Is firmer, with sales of car load lots at $1,85 per bbl.

SEED—Small sales of timothy seed at $4,50@4,75. Nothing doing in clover and flaxseed.

TALLOW—Rendered quoted at 10½.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 8, 1869.

The stagnation which has pervaded the oil market all week, still continues, and what is still worse, there are no indications at present of any immediate improvement. The shipments continue light, but thus far the falling off in the exports does not appear to have had the desired result; prices are no better than they were last week, nor does there seem to be any improvement in the demand. It is contended, however, that the light exports must and will have an effect within the next week or ten days—that the time of year has now arrived when the actual oil and not paper contracts is wanted. It is also contended that with light shipments, the stocks in the east will of necessity be reduced, and that with a demand ahead of the supply, prices, must of a necessity, rule higher. Compared with yesterday, the market to-day was weak, and prices a fraction lower, with little or nothing done—but little offering and but little wanted.

CRUDE.

Market exceedingly dull—not a single sale reported. Spot or seller September offered at 14¾; we are cognizants of an offer to sell 40 to 47 gravity at 14¼. Seller option all year nominal, at 14¼@14½; and buyer all year 15@15¼.

RIVER NEWS.

Navigation may again be considered fairly resumed, as the rain of yesterday and advices from above fairly warrant this assertion. The Allegheny was reported rising rapidly yesterday afternoon, with seven feet in the channel at that point, and as the rain appears to be general, there will doubtless be a rise in the Monongahela also. The Beaver river is reported as being almost bank full, and what is true of this is doubtless equally true of all the tributaries of the Ohio. A steady rain fell nearly all day yesterday, and there was no appearance of a cessation last evening.

The Belle departed for Parkersburg yesterday with a fair trip, having about all she could take on the water.

—It is altogether probable that there will be sufficent water by to-morrow to let out the coal fleet,

—C. C. Wilsey, for many years a steamboat passenger agent at St. Louis, died in that city on Wednesday.

—The hull of Capt. Woodburn's new Arkansas river packet, Mary Boyd, will be launched Saturday morning.

—Wreckers have carried off every thing of value from the wreck of the Bostona, which lies opposite Maysville.

—Capt. W. B. Donaldson arrived at St. Louis on Monday, and has ere this assumed command of the Great Republic.

—Capt. Henry Miller has exchanged the Fannie Brandies for the hull of a boat now being constructed in the Cumberland river. He takes the boat as she now lies, the cabin being nearly finished.

—The order of the Clark County Court submitting to subscribe $50,000 to the improvement of the Kentucky river, has been rescinded. It was found to be illegal. At the next meeting a new order will be made.

—The Mohawk's barge, sunk at the foot of President's Island, a few days since, has been raised. The vessel is not materially injured, having only sprung her butts. The cargo, consisting of corn, hay, and produce, is greatly damaged. The boat will proceed to New Orleans at once.

—A four foot vein of cannal coal has been discovered just below Plattsmouth, Nebraska, on the Missouri river. The discovery was the result of a land-slide on the bank of the Missouri river at that point. The Omaha Republican considers it the most important discovery every made in the State.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SECURITY AND COMFORT for the traveling community.

J. B. HARRIS

Safety Fire Jacket, Car Heater and MODERATOR.

For Smoke and Hot Air Flues, dispensing with the use of stoves and fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached. Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended.

It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. Wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired, I will send on application right to manufacture or use the above invention. Also Territorial rights to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges either by State or county.

CONSERVATISM is dead as a door-nail in Mississippi and Texas. The opposition, in those States, flies once more the old Democratic flag, with an occasional show of the stars and bars. The Conservative dodge is played out.

THE officers of the Lehigh Valley Railway deny that the company has contributed a dollar in any way to the Lehigh University, or that Judge Packer ever negotiated a loan for them in Europe. What railway company was it then, or was there any, which was really saddled with the university subscription heretofore attributed to Mr. Packer?

SINCE the Supreme Court has apparently been unable to deal directly with its Eastern prothonotary, in the matter of the fraudulent naturalization business which was carried on in the name of that functionary last autumn, the next best thing has been done by an order dated July 7, '69, which directs the suspension of all Nisi Prius terms during September and October. That Democratic mill won't grind as usual, on the eve of the coming election.

VERMONT is all right! The star in the East is never obscured! But little over a two-thirds vote was cast at the election on Monday, the reduction being greater in the opposition vote than in that of the Republicans. Gov. Washburne and the Republican State ticket will have from 20,000 majority upwards, while the Legislature will be almost unanimously Republican. This body will meet in four weeks to ratify the XVth Article. Now for Maine, next week!

HAVE the good people of these prosperous cities, and of the rich counties of Western Pennsylvania, no sympathy for the six hundred widows and orphans at Avondale, whose husbands and parents, their bread-winners, have been torn from them at one sweeping blow? A three months' strike had brought many of these families already face to face with suffering, in every form of destitution, but this blow, in the very first hour of their brighter hopes, strips them of all hope foreyer. There should be, among a Christian people, charity for these bereaved, orphaned and wretched mourners.

IT IS PROPOSED, in interested quarters, to increase the tax on whisky at the next session of Congress. That the proposition is seriously made, is evident from the increased activity of the distilling interest, which is driving the business just now to the utmost. The plan is to have a large stock on hand, which is to be exempted from the advanced taxation. With the adoption of the higher tax, whisky on hand would be advanced in price, to the handsome profit of the owners. When it is found out that the present tax is faithfully collected, it may be well to propose an increase, provided that increase be assessed also upon the stocks in store. But this is not in the programme. The proposed rate of advance is not in the interests of the Treasury, but altogether of speculators. We shall see how many Congressmen, and whom, they can rope into this ring.

THE MEETING TO-NIGHT.

Remember the mass-meeting of this evening, in the Allegheny Diamond, to hear a speech from Judge BINGHAM, of Ohio. This eloquent orator has ever been a favorite with our Republican friends, crowds of whom will be on hand to-night.

THE LATE SENATOR FESSENDEN.

WILLIAM PITT FESSENDEN, a Senator from Maine but a statesman whom the Republic will mourn, has closed his earthly career. He expired Wednesday morning, at his residence in Portland. His health had long been impaired, but the attack to which he has finally succumbed had not a long duration. Indeed a recovery was hoped for until within a few hours of his decease.

The dead Senator was a man of shining mark. His abilities were extraordinary, his experience in public affairs was one of the most elevated statesmanship, and of the broadest usefulness, and his influence with his countrymen, exerted in public station, was as powerful as it was meritorious.

Born October 16, 1806, he was the natural son of General Samuel Fessenden and of a mother who subsequently married a respectable citizen of New Hampshire, and who was living very recently, if not now. The child was not disowned, but was taken home by the father's parents, reared by them, and by the father, with the regular issue of his own later marriage, the bar-sinister upon his birth-right always being steadily ignored. Indeed, he was always recognized as the favorite son of General Fessenden, and as the flower of the family in the general public view.

Admitted to the bar in 1827, he entered public life, as a member of the State Legislature in 1831. Preferring his profession, he declined further service until 1839, when he was again chosen to the same body. In 1840, he was elected a Representative in Congress, serving but one term. In 1845, he served one year in the Legislature, and again in 1853 and 1854, and in the latter year was transferred to the Federal Senate, serving therein two terms and retiring, in 1864, to take the Treasury portfolio, after the resignation of Secretary Chase. In 1865, he was a third time elected to the Senate, holding the office until his death.

Mr. FESSENDEN was a Whig from the start, when Maine seemed to be Democratic to the core. He took an active part in State and National politics, being a member of nearly every Whig National Convention, up to the disbandment of the party in 1852, and he proclaimed himself still a Whig when, two years after, he led the movement fusing the Whig and "free-soil" elements of Maine into a victorious majority in that State. His distinguished position in the Republican party naturally followed.

His political influence was entirely due to the public appreciation of his abilities, and of his personal integrity of character. What this appreciation must have been, may be judged of from the fact that he connected himself, at an early period of his professional life, with the agency for an immense landed estate, the largest private ownership in Maine, with which he was so constantly brought into collison with popular prejudices that, with less ability and less of an honest repute, he would have become the most unpopular man in the State. Yet he braved these prejudices so successfully that he was respected where he was not loved, and was constantly honored and trusted by a community which he never cared to conciliate by a kindly disposition or genial manners.

Mr. FESSENDEN'S national reputation was fairly won by his splendid professional ability, and by his distinguished public services. We need not remind our readers of his career either as a Senator, or at the head of the Treasury Department. In the latter place, he exhibited a genius for finance which commanded universal admiration. As a Senator, he came, years ago, to the lead in the National councils, and, although his leadership was not always followed, it was always respected even by his political opponents. His successor may have more personal friends, with more of the quality for attracting them, but Maine cannot replace the Senator whom she has lost.

SHALL LIVES BE PROTECTED!

It is supposed that the fire at the Avondale Colliery originated from the ventilating furnace at the bottom of the shaft, and, communicating with the wood-work of this shaft, rushed rapidly to the upper surface and seized upon the immense tinder-box frame-work of the breaker and engine-houses, covering the mouth of the mine. The fire below ground could not have been serious, for the rescuing parties have found no obstructions to their explorations from that cause. This horrible slaughter seems to have been wholly the result of the outside conflagration, large quantities of the burning material falling into and choking the main gang-way, so that escape was impossible for those within.

Six hundred widows and orphans mourn the dreadful holocaust which, in an hour, swept husbands and fathers into eternity. A more terrible calamity never shocked the people of Pennsylvania. We cannot restore this small army of dead to the living world, but we must take order that no similar event, from the same cause, shall be suffered hereafter to dishonor the wise and paternal government of a Christian Commonwealth. It is quite practicable to provide the effective regulations which shall ensure, under all contingencies, the absolute safety of the main entries and shafts of all underground workings. Indeed, it is singularly a reflection upon the legislative forecast of our people, that their enactments have not already amply provided for the regulation and protection, in the interests of the public safety, of the lives of the very numerous population who work underground in this mining State. Beyond a few limited provisions, wholly directed to the regulation of property interests, and a single section of the criminal code for the punishment of malicious injuries to mining works, Pennsylvania has not a syllable of legal provision expressly for the especial protection of life to her large mining population. A well-digested system of drainage, ventilation and security from fire, or other interruptions to safe egress from below, should be directed by law, and enforced by a competent inspection under the State authority. Without such a system, the public has absolutely no safe guards whatever against the repetition of this dreadful experience of Avondale. The ignorance or the cupidity of colliery proprietors, and the irresistible necessities of labor for bread, will continue to risk the chances of fresh catastrophes. Adopt such a system, and its terms could not fail to reach and correct such a glaring recklessness as this which covered the mouth of a colliery, employing hundreds of persons, with an immense tinder-trap, on the side of a mountain, far out of the reach of any effective means for putting out a fire, and so framed that the touch of a match would be sure death to every miner below.

Two hundred men and boys suffocated like rats in hole! Six hundred widows and orphans wailing and starving above ground! Does not this fearful business disclose, to the people of Pennsylvania, some need for investigation and for future precaution?

HOW THEY MEAN TO ELECT PACKER.

When the Philadelphia Board of Aldermen was engaged on Monday, upon the list of canvassers for the October election, objection was made by Mr. Packer's friend, McMullin, to the Fourth ward appointments. Why and how he objected, the annexed report shows:

Alderman McMullin said: They can never go there. I will bet a hundred dollars on it.

Alderman Jones.—We will have to move the ward out, then.

Alderman McMullin.—When the day of election comes we will crowd the place with men.

The Chair.—Alderman, you should be ashamed of yourself. I am surprised that you make threats.

Alderman McMullin.—On election day don't let them go in. They will be murdered if they do.

Alderman Cloud moved that the resolution as read be adopted.

Alderman McMullin proposed as an amendment a long list of names.

Alderman Cloud moved to lay the amendment on the table.

Alderman McMullin characterized the motion as being unfair.

The Chair said the motion was not debatable.

Alderman McMullin. Well, there will be trouble there then.

The Chair—The gentleman should be ashamed of making threats.

Alderman Jones asked that the room be cleared.

Alderman McMullin—You had better attempt to put them out; you will see what you will get. There will be three or four thousand men let loose on the day of election.

The motion to lay upon the table was agreed to.

Alderman Jones called the previous question, which was the adoption of the resolution. Agreed to.

The resolution as read by the clerk, was then agreed to. The Chair declared the names as the officers to conduct the election in October.

Alderman McMullin—You will have club law, then, on election day.

The Chair—It is beneath your dignity to make any such threats, or use such language.

WANTED: NATIONAL PRINCIPLES!

We copy, without charge, the advertisement of the N. Y. Citizen, a Democratic print, calling for some sort of a national platform of Democratic principles. The public consideration is solicited. Says the Citizen:

"We hear nothing as to what are Democratic principles at present. Copperheadism was a failure, and died the death it so richly deserved; the proposal to pay our debt in greenbacks has been repudiated by the nation; the everlasting colored gentleman has secured all the rights he knows what to do with, and a few more; the woman's suffrage movement has not the dignity of a party measure. Democracy is in a state of chaos. We cannot undo the irrevocable; it has nothing to offer as an incentive to persistence. Cannot somebody find us a few principles?"

A HUNDRED different reasons are given for Prince Arthur's visit to the New Dominion. He is to be King of Canada, &c. The Quebec Mercury says that everything is said but the plain fact, which is that Prince Arthur is destined to take high rank in the army, but he cannot properly be promoted until he has seen foreign service; consequently he is sent to Canada to perform that duty. The Rifle Brigade, to a commission in which Prince Arthur has lately been gazetted, and to join which, at Montreal, the young soldier is now on his way, is one of the "crack" corps of the British army. It has emblazoned on its colors the names of no less than twenty-two battles in which it participated, the first of these being Copenhagen, the last Lucknow. In military style the corps is known as "The Prince Consort's Own," and it is at present commanded by H. R. H. Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, as Colonel-in-Chief—a sort of nominal position merely, which does not imply his presence with the brigade.

LETTER FROM ST. LOUIS.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4, 1869.

Glorious weather, everybody says, and the vox populi is right. And it is particularly glorious just now, when news is scarce and topics for conversation and correspondence rather in demand. Let us be thankful that we have it to talk about, since it seems there are some miserable countries on the globe where they have no weather, at least none to speak of. They have climate instead, and have to be contented with the same invariable thing one day and another the year round. To remark that it is a fine day, where all days are cut by the same pattern, is ridiculous. Dr. John W. Foster, in his recent volume on the physical geography of the Mississippi Valley, makes an allusion to this subject which it is a pity he did not develop further. He says, ridiculous as the custom is, (i. e. commencing conversation by talking about the weather,) it is nevertheless the bridge by which we cross an otherwise impassable barrier. The inference is that when people don't talk about the weather they don't get over the barrier, and of course social intercourse is impossible. It would be curious to learn that this is in any degree the fact, and to be able to trace to so apparparently insignificant cause some of the remarkable peculiarities of tropical nations. Are the social and political condition of those nations, their slow progress, their constantly recurring revolutions, their religious bigotry; are these the results of not being able to talk about the weather? This is suggestive: Who knows what developments in political and social science may grow out of it?

Next to the weather comes the subject of amusements. And here let me say we are not behind any state in the Union. For example, what do you say to a grand exhibition of lance tournament and coronation, to be given under the auspices of Capt. L. P. Van, the well-known professor-at-arms and horsemanship, which is going to come off here October 1st, and will be a high-toned affair of the first water. Please observe that no knight will be admitted without a uniform as becomes a knight. The lances to be of equal length (9 feet), and the rules and regulations will be strictly enforced. O you benighted (not be-knighted) Pittsburgians, what wouldn't you give to have a professor-at-arms and horsemanship entertain you with one of these chivalrous exhibitions of lance tournament and coronation, with lances (and uniform as becomes a knight) 9 feet long, and the rules and regulations strictly enforced?

And then, the tournament over, every one can go and get a Phantamarona, which Prof. Montarici, the great Photomanzist, will furnish to parties, ladies and gentlemen, sending fifty cents and a three cent postage stamp, description of person, age, color of eyes, and lock of hair. Who would not give that for a Phantamarona? But Professor Montarici does more than this with his Calorin Spiritual Telegraph, which imprints the date of marriage, even to the hour, on the fabric containing the likeness. Though not visible at first, directions will be sent; by which means an instantaneous imprint will be brought out on the surface. There's information worth having. O, sighing swains and longing maids, what will you give to know the address of this wonderful person, who has "arrived in St. Louis direct from Bordeaux?" (A direct importation, you see). I shan't tell you till I know whether for this notice he will dead-head me with a likeness of my future husband or wife.

But after all, what's a tournament? What's a Phantamarona? What is even a regular old-fashioned gander-pulling by the side of what is to-day really our most popular amusement, nigger-killing? Here we beat the world.

The following paragraph relates to a mysterious disappearance at New Market of a negro boy named Dave, who had been arrested charged with an attempted outrage a little girl:

"He was taken from the custody of the officer by seven men, said to have been 'seven feet high and twenty-two inches between the eyes,' and spirited away to some unknown land. A Democratic exchange says: It is supposed that he is now 'an angel'—or something else."

Match the refined wit of that, if you can.

Up in Fulton, a few nights since, a negro who had been arrested on simple suspicion of a similar crime, was taken out of jail in the obliging absence of the gentlemanly jailor, and hanged scientifically on a tree. The boys who did it had a jolly time. A day or two after an Irishman was arrested for the same offence, committed upon a colored woman. An ignorant Yankee, who happened to visit the town, suggested hanging the Irishman, but was indignantly informed by the Mayor that he probably didn't understand the customs of the country.

Last week in Fayette, a chivalrous fellow playfully threw some water on a crowd of niggers. One of them impudently remonstrated, whereupon the high toned gentleman drew a revolver, fired two or three shots before any took effect, but finally as Dick Turpin served the coachman, he "—put a couple of balls in his nob,

And perwalled on him to stop."

He was arrested, but of course could not be blamed for such an accident, and was discharged in time to attend the funeral, which he did with his revolver. You see we are at no loss out here for amusements of a high character, and that things are altogether lovely. To be sure the niggers don't like it much, but what's a nigger made for, any how? I suppose the fox don't like to be hunted, but isn't that a noble amusement. And having no foxes, must we abstain from sport? Verily not.

HITTY MAGINN.

State Items.

The town of Shamokin, Northumberland county, contains five thousand inhabitants.

The Venango county Grand Jury has presented that part of the Franklin Branch Railroad,, between Reno and Franklin, as a nuisance.

The Clark Farm, Shamburg, is now the scene of active operations. The black oil wells are being shut down and bored to a greater depth to reach green oil. The attempt has proved successful in every instance.

THE STATE OF IOWA, according to a census recently taken by the Town Assessors, contains a population of 1,011,952, being an increase of 109,909 in two years.

The Oil Operator—A Sketch.

This individual, about whom less is known and more said than any other representative of the petroleum district, is generally a sombre looking chap, between twenty and fifty years of age, and to outsiders is considered a cross between a speculator and a laboring man. He is not an ignoramus as the special correspondents of the sensation journals would lead the public to think. He does not wear his beard and hair unkempt, nor is his clothing saturated with naptha and benzine. His spare moments are not devoted to distributing seven-thirties among the poor, nor is his drink a mild decoction of low gravity oil, seasoned with nitro-glycerine. On the contrary, he is a quiet, well dressed individual. He sports a Broadway hat of the latest style, and the gayest old scarf "out"—generally purchased in Corry. Drives his own team, if he is operating with borrowed capital, and hires livery rigs, if his income exceeds one thousand dollars per day, to avoid the trouble of "hitching up." His feet are usually cased in cloth gaiters, with holes cut at convenient intervals for bunions, while his hands are engaged in fondling his watch guard and seal, the latter usually consisting of a small golden derrick, engine house, etc., mounted on a bloodstone setting, A diamond cluster, varying in size from a new cent to a glass door knob, adorns his shirt front, and is in most cases genuine. Whence comes the oil specnlator and what becomes of him, is a query for oleagians to answer. He appears suddenly in front of the hotel register with the robes and jewels described, registers his name, and is "one of 'em." His first demonstration, after getting his boots polished, is to open a bank account, gives the receiving teller a reward for counting his deposit, and says, "send up the amount at your leisure." He never rides to the depot, but walks down, and at 8 o'clock each morning may be seen getting on the cars for a trip down the creek to make a "bid" or sell, as the case may be. He returns at 11 o'clock if successful—otherwise at 6 o'clock in the evening. While on the train he converses in a monotone and in mysterious slang, peculiar to the "creekers." A wink with the left eye binds a bargain that may be worth thousands, and a single negative or shake of the head loses him a fortune-"Puts," "shorts," cornered," "delivered on B. G. C. B. O.," "plank your maps," "open your gauges," "let on your fluid," are the sentences which indicate a transaction and its acceptance. He will not bet "much" on a horse race, but will gamble on the daily average production every time. Delights in telling his experience in New York among the "benzine shippers." He has more money, spends more, fails oftener, gets up again quicker than any other man on the face of the globe, and is in all cases a genial, jolly, good-hearted and pleasant fellow. —Titusville Herald.

THE JUGGERNAUTH FESTIVAL this year at Serampore is reported by the Calcutta papers to have been a failure, and it is alleged that no enthusiasm and little faith were exhibited. On the last day of the festival, July 19th, two cars decorated with flags and idols were left standing on the roadside and partially in the ditch, in consequence of the refusal of the people to pull them. Numbers, it is stated, had been hired to applaud and to pull, but the cars were only moved half the usual distance, and then were left on the roadside. The crowd collected was estimated at 75,000 persons at the highest, being only one-third of the usual assemblage, and only one man being present to fifty women and children.

Wisconsin Democratic Convention—Nominations and Resolutions.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, Wis. September 8.—The Democratic State Convention met to-day and nominated the following ticket: Col. C. D. Robinson, of Green Bay, for Governor; G. L. Park, of Stevens Point, Lieutenent Governor: A. G. Cook, of Columbus, Secretary; John Black, of Milwaukee, Treasurer; S, W. Penney, of Madison, Attorney General; Carl Berdeau, of Waukesha, for State Prison Commissioner; Peter J. Gannon, of Cedarsburg, for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Among the resolutions the following is the most noticeable:

Resolved, That the Democratic party of Wisconsin rejoices in the extinction of slavery, in the prompt and general acquiescence of the Southern people in the results of the war, in every well directed effort for the enlightenment and elevation of oppressed humanity at home and abroad, and in every measure compatible with good government and public order, to broaden the basis of suffrage and extend the blessings of free institutions to all classes of the people: and that in strict fidelity to this spirit of progress and patriotism, we deplore the many and inexcusable infringements of our National Congress upon the liberty of the citizen and the freedom of the ballot, its failure to recognize the equitable right of foreign born residents to an early participation in the privileges of the ballot box on terms as liberal as those prescribed by the Democratic constitution of Wisconsin, its constant effort to burden labor and encourage monopoly, and its covert purpose to centralize and enlarge the powers of the Federal government.

Resolutions were also adopted favoring the taxation of National bonds.

Mississippi Conservative Convention.

JACKSON, September 8.—The National Union Republican Convention assembled to-day at noon. It is the largest meeting of the kind ever held in this State. Three hundred delegates are present, seventy-five of whom are colored. Nearly all the counties are represented. Judge Speed, of Vicksburg, was chosen President, and the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

First. We reaffirm the principles enunciated in the Convention of the 23d of June.

Second. That in addition thereto we announce ourselves in favor of a liberal system of free schools and of such equitable distribution of the public school funds as may secure the largest degree of good feeling among all classes of our citizens.

Third. We cordially invite immigration, capitalists and manufacturers into our State and pledge ourselves to such legislation as shall most effectually aid and foster industrial pursuits of our State and thoroughly develope all its resources.

Judge Lewis Dent was unanimously nominated for Governor; Judge Jefferds for Lieutenant-Governor; J. S. Wafford for Congress in the First District, Judge Wm. Kellogg in the Third and Judge Joseph W. Field in the Fourth. Adjourned till 9 o'clock, A. M., to-morrow.

The Virginia Election.

RICHMOND, September 8. — General Canby will issue his election proclamation to morrow. Governor Wells, it is stated, sent his resignation to General Canby a week ago, on the reception of the Attorney General's test oath opinion.

The proclamation will bring the Legislature together October 5th. Governor Walker will be installed as Provisional Governor within the next two weeks, at which time Governor Wells' resignation, now in the hands of General Canby, will be accepted. The Legislature itself will decide whether it shall elect permanent or temporary officers.

Vermont Election.

MONTPELIER, Vt., September 8—There were not over 45,000 votes probably polled in this State yesterday. Returns from thirty-five towns give Washburne, for Governor, 6,844, and Heaton, Democrat, 1,997.

Additional Markets by Telegraph.

NEW YORK, September 8.—Only 1,275 fresh cattle came in this morning, but 650 were still holding from Monday. Trade is slow and the only change in prices is a little advance on fat cattle, very few of them being on sale. The range is from 10@16, with a small number of extras at 16½c. About all of the cattle were sold: one drowe of 5½ cwt Indianas at 11@12½c; a drove of 6½ cwt Illinois at 14½@15½c, and a drove of 8 cwt Kentucky grades at 15½@16½c. The "coming woman" has arrived, and is now reporting the cattle market for a city paper. Sheep and lambs: receipts of 4,500 head; the only change is a dullness and downward tendency in prices of common stock. Sheep brought 4½@6½c, and lambs 7½@8¾c for what were weighed, but some sold by the head were lower. Swine: sales of 5,800 head, and only a single car 190 lbs Michigan sold at $9,81 per cwt. Dressed are unchanged.

BUFFALO, Sept. 8.—Flour: old spring firm and in little demand, small sales western at $7,50@7,75. Wheat quiet; sales 1,600 bush white Kentucky at $1,60; 18,760 bush red Ohio and Toledo at $1,38; 4,700 bush at $1,39; 9,500 bush on private terms; 15,000 bush red Ohio at $1,35; 7,500 bush No. 3 Milwaukee Club at $1,23. Corn easy and small lots sold at 90@96c, according to quality. Oats firm with a good enquiry: sales 50,000 at 52½@53c for No. 2 western. Rye nominal; $1 was the best bid for western. Pork steady at $34. Lard steady at 19½c. Highwines dull; sales 60 bbls at $1,08.

NEW ORLEANS, September 8.—Cotton in demand; sales 800 bales, having little or none in first hands; middling 31¼@31¾c. Receipts 64 bales. Exports coastwise 11 bales. Flour: low grades scarce; superfine $5,75; double extra $6,25; treble extra $9,40. Other articles firm and unchanged. Gold 134¾. Exchange sterling nominally 145. New York sight draft ⅛@¼c discount.

OSWEGO, September 8.—Flour in good demand and market unchanged; sales of 2,000 bbls No 1 spring at $7,20; for amber winter $7,75@8; for white $8,25@8,50. Double extra wheat quiet but lower; No. 1 Milwaukee club held at $1,50; No. 2 do at $1,45; red winter at $1,47. Corn held at $1,08 for No. 1; sales of 8,000 bush. by sample $100; corn meal $230 per cwt

NASHVILLE, September 8.—Weather fair and cool. River rising slowly. Wheat: red $1,10, amber $1,15, white $1,20@1,25. Corn $1,10. Oats 62c. Rye 90c. Barley $1,20. Flour $8. Bacon: sides 19½c, shoulders 17c, hams 20c. Lard 21½c.

THOU BRINGEST ME LIFE—LUNG-WORT.

One of the truest and most suggestive ideas can be obtained from the caption at the head of this article; for of all diseases which impair human health and shorten human life, none are more prevalent than those which affect the lungs and pulmonary tissues. Whether we regard lung diseases in the light of a merely slight cough, which is but the fore-runner of a more serious malady, or as a deep lesion corroding and dissolving the pulmonary structure, it is always pregnant with evil and foreboding of disaster. In no class of maladies should the physician or the friends and family of the patient be more seriously forewarned than in those of the lungs, for it is in them that early and effielent treatment is most desirable, and it is then that danger can be warded off and a cure effected. In DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE you have a medicine of the greatest value in all these conditions. An alterative, a tonic, a nutrient and resolvent, succoring nature and sustaining the recuperative powers of the system, Its beautiful workings, in harmony with the regular functions, can be readily observed by the use of one or two bottles: it will soon break up the chain of morbid sympathies that disturb the harmonious workings of the animal economy. The harrassing cough, the painful respiration, the sputum streaked with blood, will soon give place to the normal and proper workings of health and vigor.

An aggregated experience of over thirty years has enabled Dr. Keyser, in the compounding of his LUNG CURE, to give new hope to the consumptive invalid and at the same time speedy relief in those now prevalent, catarrhal and throat affections, so distressing in their effects and so almost certainly fatal in their tendencies, unless cured by some appropriate remedy. DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is so thorough and efficient, that any one who has ever used it, will never be without it in the house. It will often cure when everything else fails, and in simple cases will cure oftentimes in a few days.

The attention of patients, as well as medical men, is respectfully invited to this new and valuable addition to the pharmacy of the country.

DR. KEYSER may be consulted every day until 1 o'clock P. M. at his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 at night.

A REGULAR HABIT OF BODY

Is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of intellect. Nor is this all. Beauty of person cannot co-exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels. A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes, is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the offal of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants.

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs and one of its most common results is CONSTIPATION. This complaint, besides being dangerous in itself, has many disagreeable concomitants—such as an unpleasant breath, a sallow skin, contaminated blood and bile, hemorrholds, headache, loss of memory, and general debility.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs and regulating the action of the intestines. The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits. It is not merely a stimulant, or a tonic, or an anti-bilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurent, or a cathartic, but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative. It lends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach, relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions, and gives tone to the membrane which lines it, gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves, and cheers the animal spirits. No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues. It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine. Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious, and hence it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is sold in bottles only, and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label, with our steel engraved revenue stamp over the cork, is the test of genuineness. Beware of counterfeits.

PACIFIC RAILWAY GOLD LOAN.

Messrs. DABNEY, MORGAN & CO., 53 Exchange Place, and M. K. JESUP & CO., 12 Pine Street, N. Y., offer for sale the Bonds of the Kansas Pacific Railway. These Bonds pay seven per cent. in Gold; have thirty years to run; are Free from Government Taxation; are secured by a Land Grant of Three Million Acres of the Finest Lands in Kansas and Colorado. In addition to this special grant the Company also owns Three Millions of Acres in Kansas, which are being rapidly sold to develop the country and improve the road. They are a first mortgage upon the extension of the road from Sheridan, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado. The road in operation, 437 miles long, upon which it is also a mortgage, NOW EARNS MORE THAN ENOUGH NET INCOME TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THE NEW LOAN. There is no better security in the market—this being in some respects better than Government Securities. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD. Price 96, and accrued Interest, in Currency. Pamphlets, Maps and Circulars furnished on application.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, Sept. 8, 1869.

Government bonds are steadily declining under the influence of a tight money market, and the lower quotations from Europe. The European money markets are still very unsettled and depressed, and naturally a little desire is manifested to invest in our securities, on the presumption that they will soon advance. The sudden rise in gold from 131¼ to 137⅞, at a moment when a further decline was looked for, made the most sanguine foreign holders pause a moment before making further purchases. There is a general desire to sell bonds, not absolutely held as a permanent inyestment, in anticipation of lower prices, but they are a little slow in accepting the lower quotations that now prevail.

Gold opened this morning at about one-half per cent below the closing quotations of last evening, sold rapidly down to 134⅞, advanced to 135¾, and closed rather weak at 135. The cliques had great difficulty in sustaining the market for the last two days, and may be compelled to sell out in order to save themselves from heavy loss. Should such a course be pursued, much lower prices for gold must be looked for before a rise can take place. Nothing but unfavorable European news will advance the premium for the present, just in the face of large cotton exports. Our grain exports must also be very large, no matter whether the present prices are too high or not. Our supplies of grain are enormous and we must ship at any price.

Stocks are dull and have declined, with few exceptions. New York shares and Cleveland are the only stocks that have advanced. Money scarce and commands full rates.

NEW YORK, September 8, 1869.

Money firmer and active at 7 per cent. Currency and gold shipments to the west are increasing, but not heavily. Merchants find difficulty in effecting loans at 9 and 12 per cent., and no large amounts can be had at these rates. The Government bought $2,000,000 of 6 per cent. bonds to-day at 118 80-100.

Sterling dull, 7¾@8¼ per cent. Gold opened dull at 135⅞, declined to 134½, advanced to 135⅝, and closed at 135. One loan was made of $3,000,000 gold to-day at 7 per cent. The banks have prepared their returns for the Comptroller of Currency.

Governments weak and lower. Latest quotations—Coupons, '81, 21¼; do. '62, 21⅝; do. '63, 20¾; do. '65, 21; do. new, 19⅝; do. '67, 18½; do. '68, 19¾; 10-40's, 11; currency 6's, 0¾.

State Bonds dull; new Tenn., 52¾; Virginias, 57; North Carolinas, 48; Missouris, 87¾; Hannibal and St. Jo issue, 90½; Express stocks quiet; Railways ruled dull but closed a little firmer.

Five-Thirty Prices: Cumberland, 32¼; Western Union Telegraph, 36⅞; Quicksilver, 14; Mariposa, 8; do. preferred, 13; Pacific Mail, 19¼; Boston Water, 15½; Adams Express, 55½; Wells, 18¼; American, 36⅝; United States, 61¼; New York Central, 205⅛; Harlem, 156; Hudson, 184¼; Reading, 64¼; Erie, 34; do. preferred, 56; Michigan Central, 129; Michigan Southern, 102¼; Illinois Central, 137; Pittsburgh, 109½; Northwestern, 80¼; do. preferred, 80¾; Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati, 78; Rock Island, 111¾; St. Paul, 76¾; do. preferred, 85¾; Wabash, 79; do. preferred, 80; Fort Wayne, 86¾; Terre Haute, 40; do. preferred, 57; Chicago and Alton, 150¼; do. preferred, 150½; Mississippi, 31½.

Sub Treasury receipts: gold, $896,151; payments, $283,522; balance, $75,831,314. Currency receipts, $193,129; payments, $2,280,053; balance, $10,260,251; general balance, $88,234,600.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

PENN'A CENTRAL STOCK YARDS, WEDNESDAY, Sept. 8, 1869.

CATTLE.

The daily sales from noon on Wednesday last until noon to-day were as follows:

Wednesday,	Sept.	1.	208
Thursday,	"	2.	370
Friday,	"	3.	228
Saturday,	"	4.	—
Monday,	"	6.	6
Tuesday,	"	7.	184
Wednesday,	"	8.	465
Total			1,461

The arrivals thus far this week have been unusually large; and to-day, with the pens full to overflowing, and unfavorable advices from the east, the market was very dull and weak, and prices tended downward. There was about the usual number of buyers in attendance, but they were all, particularly the New Yorkers, asking for concessions, and concessions they determined to have, otherwise they would not buy, at least it was so intimated. The great proportion of the offerings were of the common and medium grades, and this class of cattle, as might be expected, were harder to sell, and did not bring, relatively, as good prices as the better grades. It is probable that the former have declined from 40 to 50 cents per cwt., and the latter 20 to 25, but it is expected that the decline will be much greater before Saturday, as the New Yorkers seem determined to bear the market as much as possible. In regard to prices, the reader is referred to the report of sales below.

WEDNESDAY, September 1.—Orr & W. for Sly to Graff 18, weighing 17,590, at 6; S. Boor to McGinnis 21, weighing 17,400, at 4,50; McClain & Irvin to J. SHEEP.

The arrivals of sheep thus far this week have been rather light, but the market is not at all brisk, and is devoid of excitement, and compared with last week, prices are substantially unchanged. Fair to medium may be quoted at 3 to 3½; good to prime at 4 to 4½; and extra at 5. Martin Lafferty reports having sold 2 loads of nice fat Harrison county (Ohio) sheep, averaging 94 lbs, at 5, and there was but one other sale reported at this figure. As in the case of cattle, the great proportion of the offerings were of the commoner grades.

HOGS.

The hog market was firm with a demand in excess of the supply during Monday and Tuesday, and prices ruled higher; but to-day, under the influence of increased arrivals, the market was dull and weak, and the advance above referred to was almost, if not entirely, lost. Philadelphia hogs may now be quoted at 10½ to 10⅝, against sales on Monday and yesterday at 10,75@10,80. Yorkers at 9 to 9½.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, September 8.—The jobbing trade is very lively and prices are steady and firm.

DETROIT, September 8—Wheat: receipts 23,000 bushels; market 2c lower; extra white $1,58@1,60; No. 1 do $1,37; regular $1,31@1,32; amber $1,30.

ST. LOUIS, September 8.—Cattle quiet and unchanged; ranging 2@6½c. Hogs steady at $8@10.

CLIPPINGS.

THE Vicksburg Republican states that there were but three Republican newspapers issued in Mississippi one year since, where there are now sixteen, and several more will soon be started.

THE OHIO RIVER BRIDGE at New Albany, now in progress of construction, will be exactly one mile in length from town to town; will have twenty-seven spans, all but eight of which have already been raised.

A son of an Ex-President of the United States from Virginia, who has become utterly debased by indulgence in strong drink, was the other day admitted to a charity ward in one of the hospitals of Washington.

IT is reported that the narrow gauge is to be substituted for the broad on the Erie Railroad. When this shall be done, shall we be able to perceive less force in the familiar line, "Broad is the road that leads to death?"

THERE were six births on the same day in a house in Barroll county, Georgia, last week. A lady had two twins, and two of her daughters each had twins. The six were all boys. This story is told by a Georgia paper, as a sequel to the eclipse.

THE London Fun has the following: "It is rumored that one of the conditions on which Mr. Motley is instructed to insist with regard to the settlement of the Alabama claims, is that we shall receive George Francis Train in England and keep him here. The condition is a hard one."

AGRICULTURALISTS in California are turning their attention to raising opium. The poppy plant, it is found, will grow there almost without cultivation, and the gathering of the juice of the heads, of which opium consists, is as simple an operation as the making of maple sugar. Raw opium is worth about $20 a pound.

THERE is a report that Hon. John. R. Allison, of the Treasury Department, and Hon. C. Delano, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, have accepted an invitation extended to them by the State Executive Republican Committee of Pennsylvania, and they will stump that State in compliance therewith, during the latter part of the campaign.

THE only dealer in the Wisconsin hop country who has the hardihood to offer any price at all for that commodity, puts in a paltry bid of fifteen cents a pound for A No. 1 hops. Stung with mortification at this offer, the hop growers have one precious consolation, i. e., that the worm will leave but few pods to be disposed of at such humiliating rates.

A CHILD in Minnesote recently swallowed a cup of water in which a quantity of potato bugs had been thrown to drown. The parents fed the babe for two hours on Davis' pain killer and sweet milk, and beyond "distress," which might naturally be attributed to the heroic remedy, there were no serious consequences, though the potato bug is reputed poisonous in the west.

A YOUNG man of respectable appearance recently applied to a police magistrate in Paris to obtain an entry into a lunatic asylum, as he could not withstand the temptation to strangle every child he met. He was a teacher in a large school, and although he had succeeded so far, he declared it utterly impossible to keep his hands off the children under his charge for the future.

THE NEW traveling costumes, says a Paris correspondent, are made of waterproof cloth in shot colors, such as brown and gold. The skirt is short, with a simple hem round the bottom. Paletots are loose to these, revers of taffeta, plaited sash of taffeta to match, straw hat, gauze veil, waterproof boots. Macfarlane mantles, with coachmen's capes of red and white plaids, are the best evening dress wrappers.

A LADY of New York city has just come into the possession of an original painting by Rubens, which was brought to this country half a century ago by an Italian artist, but has never yet been placed upon exhibition. It is the draft of his celebrated "Plague of Venice," and exhibits some of the finest characteristics of the great master. The owner has consented to place it in a gallery for public inspection.

THE other day the dead body of an infant was found in a sac on the banks of the Mississippi, at Muscatine, Iowa, showing that it had been drowned. With the sack as a clue, a policeman ferreted out the mother, who acknowledged the whole thing. Her own brother was the father of the child, and had drowned it immediately after its birth. The man was arrested and put in jail and the woman released on bail.

WHAT can the ladies use to make themselves attractive, without running into danger? Chignons convey disease and vermin, (so they say), hair dye is rank poison, and now we are told peculiar cosmetics contain ingredients that produce paralysis and disfigured faces. But where do all the ladies who, if these stories be true, must be crippled and rendered hideous, go to? We never meet any of them anywhere.

A YOUNG lady, residing near Earlville, Canada, wearing a highly polished silver pin, was looking at the eclipse considerably through the ordinary smoked glass, during the time of the transit, and afterward discovered that the eclipse had daguerreotyped itself upon her pin at the time that the sun was about half obscured. The impression remains there permanently, resisting the action of rubbing, as well as exposure to the atmosphere.

AFTER the sermon at the Ohio penitentiary, on Sunday last, an interesting episode in the exercises took place. Colonel Burr, rising, showed the prisoners the large strap used in former times for whipping and brutalizing men, remarking that this and other similar practices had been abolished. Then holding up a set of the tin table furniture, he said that this, too, had been dispensed with, and dishes substituted in its place at a cost of $600.

On Wednesday morning near Cochranton, says the Meadville Republican, an oil car attached to a freight train, was struck by a meteor. The engineer states that he had just stopped the train when the meteor passed close to him followed by a blaze of light and struck the rear car and exploded, tearing off a portion of the roof, setting the car on fire and destroying it. A brakeman was struck in the face by a fragment of the meteor and severely injured.

A LETTER from Yokohama, Japan, July 29, says: "A boat race for $700 a side was rowed in this harbor on the 10th inst., between the cutters of the United States steamer Iroquois and her Britannic Majesty's frigate Ocean. The latter beat the former in a five mile race four minutes and twenty-eight seconds. This result again gives the boast to the Britishers in these waters, which was won from them about a year ago in a contest between the Ocean and Oneida."

If the reader of this paragraph owns a razor imbued with the equine quality of "pulling"—one that "draws" tears to his eyes—let him put it half an hour in water to which has been added one-twentieth of its weight in muriatic or sulphuric acid; then wipe it off, and, after a few hours, set it on a hone. The acid supplies the place of a whetstone by corroding the whole face of the blade evenly, so that nothing is wanting to insure a keen edge, but a smooth polish.

Two prairie dogs, owned in Portland, Maine, were observed a few days since to gather quantities of grass, which they rolled up into balls and dried in the sun, after which they carried them to their burrows. They have also stripped the cucumber vines of their fruit and carried vines and cucumbers to the same place, together with such other food as they could secure, and on the 20th of the month they went into winter quarters, and will not reappear again until next spring.

THE California pioneers' excursion to the Atlantic States will leave Sacramento for New York on September 15th, 1869. The round trip is charged for at half fare, and the cost for each ticket is $112.50 in gold, or $150 in currency. The parties must start together, and can stop for a day or more at Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, or any other city that a majority may determine on. Sleeping cars solely for the excursionists have been provided. The tickets are available to return within sixty days.

IN Decatur county, Iowa, there lives an aged hermit, by the name of Vandercroft, who emigrated to the spot which he now occupies twenty-four years ago. For fourteen years he has not been half a mile from his hut. He is described as talkative and intelligent, and appears to have considerable education. He is very kind to the domestic animals which he has gathered about him, not wishing to sell a balky horse, for fear it would receive unkind treatment at the hands of another, and he will not pay the man who butchers his hogs, if he allows them to squeal during the operation.

ON SATURDAY a shocking accident occurred near Bucyrus. As an eastward bound train on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway was approaching the station, an elderly gentleman and lady, whose names our informant could not ascertain, attempted to drive across the track. The vehicle was struck by the engine and shivered to atoms. The lady was instantly killed, and the gentleman was frightfully mangled. He was alive when taken up, but it was thought impossible for him to live many hours. No blame was attached to the officers of the train, as the proper signals were given before reaching the crossing.

THE laws of Ireland are ridiculously strict in punishing little expressions of feeling, held to be dangerous to the public peace. One man, for avowing himself "a Papist to the backbone" was fined forty shillings. Henry McCool was arrested for "blessing the Pope" in Smithfield Market. On his way to the station house he changed his mind and cursed the Pope. The magistrate fined him twenty shillings alike for the blessing and the curse. Catharine Ward, who only "cursed the Pope," was fined forty shillings. Wm. Crowley whose only offence consisted in saying that he was a good Roman Catholic, a good Papist, and a Corkman, was fined the same amount.

THE London Lancet, in speaking of "the women of the period," whom it describes as "a race of chlorotic girls, acting wives, and inefficient mothers," says that "the scrofulous, consumptive, dyspeptic, pimpled women, who crowd physicians' waiting rooms and swallow every advertised remedy, from Parr's Pills to Pancreatic Emulsion, would be strong, vigorous, and healthy, and need no medicine at all, if they followed a few simple directions. These are: To allow their own hair to be just bound down as a natural covering to their heads when out of doors; to clothe their bodies sensibly, without pinching themselves hideously into unnatural shapes; to wear well-shaped boots, in which they might walk comfortably and taste the pleasure of exercise."

MR. A. SOMERVILLE, gunmaker, in London, has been created by the King of Italy a chevalier of the Order of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus. Mr. Somerville's firm are the patentees of the Albini Brauedlin rifle, adopted by the Italian and Belgian governments; and Mr. Somerville, who is now in Italy, has lately effected an improvement in revolvers, adapted for use of cavalry regiments. Some Italian officer pointed out to him that the revolver is comparatively useless to cavalry, because mounted soldiers cannot easily take aim. To meet this objection Mr. Somerville caused the ball to be cut into four, six, or more pieces of equal size, and these being fitted together were reintroduced into the cartridge in the same manner as a single bullet. This experiment proved very successful; the charge, when fired, scattered like grapeshot, and the revolver being thus altered into a mitrailleur.

THE SEA WALL to be built around the South Boston flats will be a very creditable specimen of engineering ability. The entire work consists of a light sea wall and platform, a plank wall and a heavy sea wall and the filling in of the flats. The light sea wall is to be built in a trench dredged two feet below the spring tides. There are to be five parallel rows of foundation piles, the rows to be two and a half feet apart. The whole space to be occupied is nine feet wide, with stone chips or oyster shells rammed between the piles. The wall is to be 9 feet wide at the bottom, and 5 feet at the top, and 18 feet high. The heavy sea wall on the outer side, next the main harbor, is to be laid in a trench 25 feet wide at the bottom, with a level surface, 23 feet below mean low water and always on a hard bottom. The wall from the bottom to one foot below low water, is to be built of quarry dimension granite in courses of 2 feet 9 inches each, laid by submarine divers, the stones to be from 4 to 10 feet long and 18 inches wide. The base of the wall is to be 18 feet wide and the height 22 feet. On this wall is to be placed a top wall of stone, laid in cement, to rise to grade 16. This top wall is to be over 9 feet at the base, 17 feet high, and 5 feet wide at the top. The wall and the filling must be completed by July 1st, 1872.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the livor and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 34 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

The rivers are commencing to rise.

Allegheny Councils will hold a regular meeting this evening at 7½ o'clock.

The Allegheny Schools thus far have been unusually well attended for the opening week.

Duquesne Greys.—The members of this company will find a notice on our 5th page concerning them.

Rain.—Providence has been regaling us with a bountiful dispensation of moist favors since Tuesday evening.

The Humboldt centennial celebration promises to be one of the most interesting celebrations ever held here.

Postponement.—The consecration of Grace Church, at Mount Washington, which was announced to take place today, has been postponed, or deferred until the latter part of October next.

The Muses and Lager.—Amid the sequestered precints of Saw-Mill Run stands a little retreat for bibulous individuals, which is designated by its literary proprietors as the "Valley Inn, kept by Jim, if you wish to see him, just step in."

Sabbath School Celebration.—A Sabbath School Celebration will be held at Montour's Church, in Robinson township, on Saturday, September 18th. Good music, addresses and an excellent dinner may be expected.

New Postoffice.—A new postoffice called "Oakdale Station" has been established on the Panhandle Railroad and on the line between North and South Fayette townships. Mr. David Johnson has been appointed Postmaster.

Bar-Room Demonstrations.—Charles Snyder was arrested in the Manzenella saloon, Diamond, Allegheny, yesterday afternoon, while endeavoring to kick up a row with the bar-keeper. He was locked up for a hearing this morning.

Second Ward.—The members of the Second Ward Geary Club are requested to meet at Wikins Hall, this evening at 6½ o'clock, sharp, to act as an escort to Hon. John A. Bingham, of Ohio, who will address the meeting at Allegheny Diamond, this evening.

A Change.—Lieutenant James Wilson, of the Mayor's force, has been appointed police officer at the Union Depot, vice A. Boyd Rook, resigned. We regret that Mr. Rook, on account of ill health, had to give up the situation, but it is pleasant to know that his place will be filled by such a competent man as Lieutenant Wilson.

Insane.—Michael Magee, an insane man, was taken from Mercy Hospital to the lock-up yesterday morning and will probably be sent to Dixmont Hospital. He was taken to the Hospital from Noblestown and has been there some time. Yesterday morning he became so unruly that it was necessary to have him removed to a place of safety.

Oakland Disturbance. — Matthew Davis made information before Alderman Butler yesterday, against John Boyce, for assault and battery. The parties are neighbors, and reside at Oakland. They had some trifling difficulty, when words were followed with blows, and a visit to the Alderman's office. Boyce gave bail for a hearing.

The Wrong Place.—Yesterday morning a thirsty individual, in an intoxicated condition, entered the Second National Bank in Allegheny, supposing it to be a saloon. Before discovering his mistake he leaned upon the counter, and gently passed away to the land of dreams. The officers of the bank called a policeman and had him carefully removed to the lock up, where he will be allowed to sleep off his dissipation.

Street Fight.—Yesterday afternoon, Thomas Scott with two companions was coming up Federal street, Allegheny, when they had some disagreement which caused Scott to knock his two friends into the gutter. A policeman witnessed the pugilistic demonstration and stopped any further operations by securing Scott and lodging him in a watch-house cell. He will have a hearing this morning.

Lost Boys.—Tuesday afternoon, Jacob Neels, ten years of age, and Jacob Deef, twelve years old, left their homes in the Seventh Ward, Allegheny, to drive some cows to pasture and have not been heard of since. Their parents are very much distressed about their mysterious disappearance and would gratefully receive any information of their whereabouts. Word can be left at the Allegheny Mayor's office.

Moving Extraordinary.—All day yesterday parties were engaged in moving a house in the Third Ward, Allegheny, from Chestnut to Third street, a distance of about a dozen squares. The house, a frame, two story and a half high, was raised on wheels, and by the aid of half a dozen horses and twice that number of men, safely landed on a foundation previously prepared for it on Third street. The men worked regardless of the rain and every obstacle, until their task was accomplished.

Misrepresented the Situation.—Andrew Klineloff was before Alderman Neeper yesterday on a charge of false pretence preferred against him by Andrew Jack, a resident of St. Elmo, Allegheny county. The accused was charged with obtaining boarding from Jack by representing he had certificates of deposit in a bank in Brookville, and also had a draft payable at that place, all of which, it is alleged, were false representations. Klineloff waived a hearing and was committed for trial.

We are glad to learn that we are to have, besides the usual excellent course of the Library Association, another course of lectures, under the auspices of the G. A. R. of Pittsburgh. We have seen the list of lecturers already engaged and find that it embraces such names as Justin McCarthy, Josh Billings, Kate Fields, John G. Saxe, and several others. We think that with such popular names, any course of lectures ought to prove successful, and we congratulate the G. A. R. on the bright prospect before them.

Sad Intelligence.—Mr. Harry Marker, Deputy Clerk of the United States District Court in this city, yesterday received a telegram from Trenton, New Jersey, informing him that his father was lying at the point of death at that place, and requesting him to come on immediately, with which request he complied, leaving on the first train east after having received the intelligence. This will be sad news to many of our citizens, as well as the friends of Mr. Marker, who was widely known and universally respected in this city.

Stolen Goods Recovered.

The Allegheny police have succeeded in making a large haul of stolen goods, and arresting one of the supposed thieves. Some months ago Cochran's carpenter shop, on Western avenue, Allegheny, was robbed of a quantity of tools. A few evenings afterwards Shaffer's grocery store, in the Third ward, was also robbed by the same thieves, which was apparent from the fact that a chisel stolen from Cochran's shop was found alongside the door of the grocery, which had been pried open. The thieves managed to elude the vigilance of the police until Monday afternoon, when Chief Bowden learned that Lauy Herriet, a well known character, was endeavoring to sell a lot of tools answering to the description of those stolen. With this clue, he made a raid on the residence of Lauy, on Pennsylvania avenue, this city, Tuesday evening, and succeeded in securing Larry, and a large hanl of goods, comprising a quantity of the tools, and two large trunks and a box filled with dry goods and varieties, consisting pricipally of dress goods and muslins. The plunder and prisoner were brought to the Mayor's office. Larry stoutly denied guilt in the matter and stated the tools and goods had been left at his house by Frank Cook, about two months ago, and that he knew nothing of them at all. Before daylight yesterday morning, the police continued their investigations by making a descent on Cook's house on Mahan street off Centre avenue, where they secured the box of tools, Cook, however, had been absent from the city for ten days. The tools when brought to the Mayor's office were identified by Mr. Cochrane from his private marks, with which they were stamped. The dry goods, from certain circumstances, are supposed to be a part of a lot stolen from a store at Burgettstown on the Panhandle Railroad, about two monts ago. Lauy was locked up to await further developments.

Washington and Beaver.

The Democratic Conferees from Washington and Beaver counties, met at the St. Charles Hotel, Tuesday afternoon, to nominate a candidate for Senator and a Legislative ticket. The legislative convention completed its busines yesterday morning placing in nomination, William Davidson, of Beaver, and John B. McBride and J. N. Walker, Esq., of Washington county.

The Senatorial Conferees met at the St. Charles Hotel yesterday morning, Captain French, of Beaver county was called to the chair, and Felix Boyle, Jr., of Washington county, was appointed Secretary.

Two of the conferees from Beaver county being absent, on motion of Wm. Workman, Captain French was allowed to cast the vote for Beaver county.

The conferees for Washington county were Wm. Workman, W. H. Rainey and Felix Boyle, Jr.

On motion of Captain French, Samuel Bigger, of Beaver county, was put in nomination for the State Senate.

On motion of Mr. Workman, Isaac Newkirk, of Washington county, was put in nomination for the State Senate.

Three ballots were taken without a choice being effected, when, on motion of Mr. Rainey, Dr. W. G. Barnett, of Washington county, was put in nomination.

The seventh ballot resulted in the nomination of Samuel Bigger, Esq., of Beaver county, by a vote of four against two for Barnett.

Second Ward, Allegheny.

The Republican voters of the Second ward, Allegheny, held an adjourned meeting on Tuesday evening, in the School House, for the purpose of organizing for the campaign. W. H. Alexander was called upon to preside, and Mr. W. P. Price designated as Secretary.

Upon the formation of a "Geary Club," and the appointment of Block Committees, the following series of resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the best interests of our country demand the continuance of the Republican party, with its noble purposes in favor of Freedom and Human Progress.

Resolved, That the renomination of John W. Geary, the patriot soldier, for Governor, and the nomination of Henry W. Williams for Suprsme Judge, meets our hearty concurrence.

Resolved, That the ticket nominated by the late Republican County Convention meets with our entire approval, and we pledge it our hearty and undivided support.

Resolved, That as the Second ward polled the highest Republican vote of any district in the county, we pledge ourselves to give a good and true account on the second Tuesday of October.

Two Charges.

Michael O'Connor made information yesterday, before Alderman Thomas, against William Kennedy, for obtaining ten dollars' worth of groceries under false pretences. O'Connor is proprietor of a grocery at Oakland, and he alleges that Kennedy represented himself as the owner of five hundred dollars' worth of real estate, by which he obtained the goods. Subsequently Kennedy took the benefit of the three hendred dollar law before Alderman Thomas. He was arrested and committed to jail for a hearing. Kennedy is also charged with false pretence by Mr. H. Martin, lumber dealer, who alleges he obtained lumber from him on the credit of a third party, who had given him the money to pay for it. He will have a hearing on both charges on Saturday.

Accident at Honesdale.

While an excursion party were riding up a very steep plane on a coal car at No. 4, near Honesdale, Pennsylvania, on Saturday, the rope broke, and the car descended the plane with a fearful rapidity. Seven ladies were seriously injured, among them a Miss Galton, of Newark, or New York, who was badly bruised about the head and back; Miss L. Ballard, of Elmira, who had her arm broken, and was severely cut in the head; Miss Georgie Lawrence, of Ellenville; Miss Louisa Wood, of Honesdale; Mrs. E. A. Penniman, wife of the editor of the Honesdale Citizen; Mrs. Thomas J. Ham, wife of the editor of the Wayne county Herald; and Miss Cauldwell, of Equinuck, Pennsylvania. Some of these are not expected to live.

Hired a Buggy.

John Ryan alleged before Alderman Lynch yesterday that he had been illegally deprived of two dollars by Patrick Burns, proprietor of a livery stable. He went to the stables and, so he states, paid two dollars for the hire of a horse and buggy which was to be sent around to his house at a certain hour. The buggy was not sent, he alleges, and when he went to get his money back his demand was refused. He took to the law and made information before Alderman Lynch against Burns for larceny as bailee. Warrant issued.

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judge Kirkpatrick.

WEDNESDAY, September 8.—The argument in the case of Ed. Hazleton vs. the Allegheny Grocery and Provision Company was heard and judgment allowed against George Schield, as garnishee.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

WEDNESDAY, September 8.—The first case taken up was the Commonwealth vs. Thomas Moore, indicted for the larceny of a caddy of tobacco from the firm of Shipton & Wallace, Sixth avenue. Officer McCready, it appears, arrested the accused on the street with a box of tobacco in his possession and took him to the lock-up, where he remained until Mr. Wallace came and identified the tobacco as having been stolen from his establishment. The jury retired, and after a short absence returned a verdict of guilty. The prisoner was remanded for sentence.

The jury in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Frank Lenstetter, previously reported, came into court and returned a verdict of guilty. Mr. Haines, attorney for defendant, gave notice that he would move for a new trial, and file reasons therefor. The prisoner was remanded to jail.

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. Wm. C. Chandler, indicted for larceny. The larceny, it is alleged, was committed at the Union Depot, about ten o'clock Tuesday morning, at which time a Mr. Oswalt, a resident of Mercer county, Ohio, had a pocket book stolen, containing $785, an account of which we published Wednesday morning. Chandler, who, it appears, had been near the prosecutor a short time before he discovered his loss, and had jostled him after they entered the car, and thrown a coat over his face, was arrested in a sleeping car and taken into the office of J. McCreighton, at the Union Depot, where the pocket book was found behind a case or wardrobe, near which the accused had set his traveling valise.

The jury, after a short absence, returned a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was remanded for sentence.

THREATENED TO SHOOT.

The next was a surety case between a Mr. Wilson and a Mr. McCormick. It appeared that the parties own farms adjoining each other in Lower St. Clair township, and on or near the line there are a number of cherry trees, which are in dispute. Mr. Wilson went upon the cherry trees to pick cherries, and Mr. McCormick threatened to shoot him if he did not get down from them. Mr. McCormick was held to bail in the sum of $2,000 to keep the peace.

FALSE PRETENCES.

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. John G. Freeberger and Jacobina Freeberger, indicted for obtaining money under false pretences, Salina Groves prosecutrix. The accused, it appears, kept a store in the Thirteenth ward, and the husband of the prosecutrix is a gardener, residing at Oakland. By some undue means, it was alleged, the defendants got into the good graces of the prosecutrix and from time to time borrowed money from her, and about the 1st of June last, having already obtained about $400, they called upon her again for $100, which the refused to let them have without security, stating that her husband had objected to her loaning any money without security. The accused then, it is alleged, stated that Mr. Groves need have no fears about his money, that they (the accused) were worth from $10,000 to $12,000, and could at any time procure $500 from a building and loan association on a half hour's notice. On these representations the $100 was loaned, and subsequently it was ascertained that there were a number of judgments against Mr. Freeburger, and that he was insolvent. On trial.

THE GRAND JURY.

The Grand Jury at the close of the session yesterday presented the following bills:

Commmonwealth vs. Moses Beekman, assault and battery, bill ignored and the county to pay the costs; Commonwealth vs. Felix Bruder and Barbara Bruder, assault and battery, true bill; Commonwealth vs. George Morino, aggravated assault and battery, true bill; Clara Williams, assault and battery, true bill; Commonwealth vs. Charles Schwartz, selling liquor to minors, true bill; Commonwealth vs. John Cook, larceny, true bill; Commonwealth vs. James McKenna, larceny, true bill; Commonwealth vs. Charles Gilkey, larceny, true bill; Commonwealth vs. Wm. Woods and B. McClintock, aggravated assault and battery, true bill; Commonwealth vs. L. J. Kuehler and Adam Schauer, larceny, bill ignored; Commonwealth vs. John Carey, bill ignored; Commonwealth vs. Alexander Allison, larceny, bill ignored; Commonwealth vs. Samuel Newton, George Drake and William Clark, assault and battery, true bill; Commonwealth vs. Fanny Delfey, assault and buttery and Commonwealth vs. Harriet Fairfax, aggravated assault and battery, cross suits, bills ignored and prosecutors to pay costs.

" 36. Commonwealth vs. Mary A. Alexander.

For Fort Delaware.

James McAlister, formerly a private in the Ordnance Corps at Indianapolis, Indiana, from where he deserted about nine months since, passed through the city last night en route for Fort Delaware. He was captured at or near Lafayette, Indiana, about four weeks since and taken back to Indianapolis, where he was tried by courtmartial for desertion, found guilty and sentenced to spend two years at Fort Delaware. Sargeant Keefe and private Quimby, having the prisoner in charge, arrived in the city yesterday at noon, and having to lay over for the evening train East, the prisoner was left at the lockup in charge of Capt. Graham until six o'clock last night, when he was taken charge of by the Sergeant.

More of It.—Michael Barlow, who yesterday charged a butcher in the Allegheny market with taking from him twenty dollars, but subsequently found himself mistaken, and the money in his pocket-book, which he had hastily overlooked, has got himself into trouble by the transaction, as the butcher yesterday lodged information against him before Alderman Bolster for perjury. The offense consists in swearing to the information of larceny preferred before Mayor Drum against the butcher. Barlow was arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

Annual Conference Methodist Church—Pittsburgh Conference.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Sept. 5, 1869.

FIFTH DAY.

The afternoon session opened in the usual manner.

The President's salary was fixed at $800.00. The Committee on Statistics reported an unusually large increase in each department of the work.

Conference adjourned, and the Preacher's Aid Society organized and transacted their business. William Miller, Treasurer, reported $2,489.06 in the Treasury, to be divided among the several claimants, which was then duly appropriated to superannuated ministers and widows of deceased ministers.

The Committee on Missions reported assessments of over $2,000 for next year.

The Committee on Finance reported, showing that some of the churches had not done so well as was hoped for, though many did admirably, as they always do.

The District Committee was elected—three ministers and three laymen.

A paper was offered eulogizing and recommending a book by Thomas H. Colhour, called "Non-Episcopal Methodism." Received and adopted by the Conference.

Resolutions regulating church finances were passed and ordered to be published in the Methodist Recorder, and to be brought before the churches in official capacity.

SIXTH DAY'S SESSION.

TUESDAY, Sept. 6.—Opened in due form, minutes of yesterday afternoon read and adopted. A Committee was elected to have the minutes published in pamphlet form. Rev. G. G. Westfall was elected Treasurer of An. Conf. Miss. Society.

The "Board of Missions and Church Extension" at Pittsburgh, Pa., was represented to the Conference, and recommended to the sympathies of all our people.

The Conference Missionary Treasurer reported, showing slight deficiencies, but not so large as last year. A. M. session adjourned with prayer.

Afternoon session opened in the usual manner. Roll called, minutes read and approved.

Resolutions of thanks were tendered to the kind people of Fairmont for our excellent entertainment, to the pastor of the church, Rev. J. E. Snowden for his services in arranging for us, to the Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Co., for passing us over their road at half fare.

Action was taken, securing valuable documents for the purpose of publishing the history of the Methodist Church (non-episcopal) from its origin to the present date.

The entire session was a very harmonious and happy one. There were about one hundred members present during the session, and all seemed to enjoy the occasion exceedingly. The weather was all that could be desired, and the people fully sustained their reputation for hospitality.

Conference adjourned at five o'clock, P. M., to meet at the First Methodist Church, Allegheny city, Pa., on the first Wednesday in September, A. D., 1870.

Benediction by the President, W. Collier. C.

The Humboldt Centennial.

The Humboldt Executive Committee met last night, and everything seems to be going on well. The Finance Committee reports about $2,500 subscribed and several lists not yet handed in. Owning to the time required for the ceremonies at the laying of the corner stone, it is yet undecided whether the orations shall take place at the Allegheny Park or at the Grove. Many societies have agreed to take part in the procession, including Masons, Odd Fellows, Turners, Red Men, Singing Societies, Allegheny County Medical Society and others. Fifty musicians will perform at the Volksfest. It was decided that too much was attempted for one day and the banquet was postponed to another day. The foundation will be ready in time and an appropriately decorated arch will be raised over the foundation stone. Ample arrangements have been made for the eatables and drinkables at the Volksfest and a sufficient number of cars will be provided for all who wish to go out. A telegram has been received from Prof. Blaeser stating that the bust will cost $2,000. A vote of thanks was tendered the German and English press of the city, and the meeting then adjourned to meet again on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, when a full attendance is particularly requested and the members of the Finance Committee are desired to be present.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—A very large and appreciative audience assembled at the Opera House last night, to see the Worrell Sisters in "The Field of the Cloth of Gold," which was presented remarkably well. The clog dancing of Irene and Jennie is exceedingly good and Sophie's walk-around is unapproachable. The piece will be repeated to-night.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—Harry Williams continues the usual attractions at the Pittsburgh Theatre and is receiving a full share of public patronage, of which he is deserving. The Company is composed of first-class artists both male and female, and everything announced in the bills is produced in the highest style of the profession.

MASONIC HALL.—The world-renowned Davenport Brothers will give a series of their startling and mysterious entertainment at Masonic Hall, commencing Thursday evening, the 14th inst., and closing the following Saturday evening.

The Davenport Brothers.

These renowned gentlemen have achieved so much of fame that at one time the whole world was talking of them. The proceedings at their seances are of so startling, wonderful and apparently super-natural a character that at one time many intelligent persons believed that there was some power more than human in concert with them. The wonderful brothers did not deny that their prodigies were of spiritual origin, for they found that it paid much better to have such an impression afloat, but now that the public has been dispossessed of the idea, they no longer assume to have more than an uncommonly mysterious repertoire of tricks, of a perfectly human and earthly character. The Davenport Brothers will be in this city next week, and will doubtless be well patronized.

Burgettstown Fair.

The Union Agricultural Association will hold their fourteenth Annual Exhibition on their Fair Grounds at Burgettstown on Thursday and Friday, October 7th and 8th. The board of officers for the present year have spared no pains in revising the premium list so as to please exhibitors in each and every class, and have added several hundred dollars in the aggregate over and above any of the previous years' premiums. In addition to the usual attractions, there will be a velocipede race on the last day of the Fair. For the swiftest and most graceful rider a premium of fifteen dollars will be awarded, and for the second best a premium of ten dollars. It is expected that a large number of "go it gracefuls" will be in attendance.

Base Ball.

The Olympic base ball club of Allegheny City left yesterday on the 1:40 train for Cincinnati, to play a game with the celebrated Red Stocking club of that city. The match comes off to-day. They also play to-morrow with the Buckeyes, another Cincinnati club. We hope they may come off victors in both matches, but this can hardly be expected, as the "Reds" have vanquished all the crack clubs throughout the States, and are now about starting on a trip to California to engage in friendly contests with the clubs on the Pacific.

EDITORS GAZETTE: "An Immense Grape Vine" is the heading of a notice in your paper of September 8, taken from a California paper. It certainly is a big thing, but Greene county, Pa., can beat it in size of wood. On the banks of Dunkard creek (where oil ought to be,) there are two large vines standing within ten feet of each other, the one measuring thirty-six inches and the other forty-eight inches in circumference. The thickest one rises about fifty or sixty feet before it takes hold of the nearest tree; it then spreads over several trees, but was so high up I could not see whether it had any fruit upon it or not. So you see, Messsrs. Editors, California may be ahead on big trees, but Greene county, Pa., is entitled to the belt for having the largest place "where the belt ought to go," yet heard from. D.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 8, 1869.

The vast amount of PLANTATION BITTERS now being sold and shipped from New York is almost incredible. Go when and where you will—along the wharves and piers, and at the depots—you will see great piles of these Bitters awaiting shipment and conveyance to every nook and corner of the country, and to the hundreds of foreign ports. They are very popular among all classes of people, and are conceded to be just the thing for this climate. No Bitters have yet been introduced which have beome so deservedly popular and worthy of patronage, to all who require a tonic and stimulant. They are prepared with pure St. Croix Rum, Calisaya Bark, and all the world knows full well what beneficial results accrue from these combinations.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price. TH.S.T.F.

Black Alpacas, Ladies' Merino underwear, Hoop Skirts at cost, at Bates & Bell's.

The Ladies of the two cities are informed that Miss Bartholomew, an accomplished artist, has opened rooms at 65 Federal street, Allegheny, on the second floor, where plain and ornamental hair work is made or repaired; also ladies' hair dressing done in approved style at the shop or at their residences. Train from Federal street at two o'clock. Thirty minutes ride from town. Agnew Station right on the place. Abundance of water. Every requisite for a comfortable and pleasant home. A great bargain may be expected. If you have the slightest notion of going to the country do not fail to attend. A. LEGGATE, Auctioneer.

Bates & Bell will open a new stock of Fancy and Staple Dry Goods.

The Favorite Resort.—Ladies don't forget to call at W. W. Moorhead's, No. 81 Market street, for the newest styles of dress goods and fancy articles. Mr. Moorhead has one of the finest and most perfect assortments ever brought to Pittsburgh, which he is disposing of at the lowest possible prices. For the best goods and most reasonable prices, remember the store is Moorhead's, No. 81 Market street. It is the favorite resort for all who consult taste or fashion in dressing.

Shawls—New Stock at Bates & Bell's.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

—The old banking house of L. A. Benoish & Co., of St. Louis, has suspended.

—Late Arizona advices report the discovery of rich placer mines by emigrants from White Pine.

—Idaho advices represent mining prospects encouraging Grasshoppers are devastating the country.

—Vice President Colfax reached Portland, Orogen, on Tuesday. He had a public reception Wednesday evening.

—A Washington dispatch states that the Marshal at Macon, Ga., seized a vessel there with fifty fillibusters, bound to Cuba.

—The city council of Alexandria, Va., passed a resolution of respect to the memory of Gen. Rawlins, and also resolved to attend his funeral.

—Last Saturday, at Macon City, Mo., a farmer was robbed of $13,000, by one Sam. Compton, who was arrested and most of the money recovered.

—The election at Wilmington, Del., for city officers, on Tuesday, resulted in the choice of Valentine, Rep., for Mayor. The Republicans also elected a majority of the city councils.

—The Allentown (Pa.) iron works were burned on Tuesday. Loss $300,000. One thousand men are thrown out of employment. The works paid out $15,000 in wages every month.

—Joseph Snyder, who a few days since shot and killed Richard D. Carter, in Philadelphia, committed suicide in Moyamensing prison Tuesday night, by holding his head in a bucket of water until he was dead.

—A call has been made by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce and the Presidents of the various railroads there for a meeting October 12th, to consider the line of the proposed railroad thence to Kansas City via Springfield.

—The Governors of Missouri, Kansas and Alabama have given notice to the Committee of Arrangements for the Southern Commercial Convention, to be held at Louisville, that they will soon appoint delegates. Governor Smith, of Alabama, states that he will be present. The Governors of New York and Maryland, and the Mayor of New Orleans, have already appointed delegates.

—A Georgia letter states that the damage in that State to the cotton crop, caused by the excessive heat and drought of the latter half of August, is extended and irreparable. The yield of the State has been diminished fully one-half, and in many places more than that. The effect upon the fortunes of the planters is disastrous, though it is at least probable that the higher price consequent upon an abridged supply will in a great degree compensate for the apparent loss.

DIED.
